Nazis at Channel Await Order to Rush London

Writer Says Army Clogs Coast Area

Associated Press Gives
Report of Restless Soldiers Awaiting Hitler's Orders

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
With the German armies on the Western Front, May 23 (AP)—I have reached the English channel to find German forces here with the Nazi swastika flying.

It seems almost unbelievable that I should find Germany at this channel.

But the Nazi swastika waving from the local commander's headquarters leaves no doubt about it. Crews of U-boats and speedboats are champing to be sent on their errands of destruction.

(Lochner, chief of the Associated Press bureau in Berlin, is in the fifth day of a tour with the German forces on personal invitation of Hitler. He did not specify the point at which he reached the English channel but apparently it was some place in Belgium.)

Technically the eastern limit of the channel runs between England and France but Belgian ports popularly are considered to be on the channel.

Roads Are Jammed
Here as elsewhere the roads of approach are jammed with infantry, more infantry and still more infantry, and with artillery ever more formidable backed by an air force equipped to the last fine detail.

All are awaiting Adolf Hitler's final command to go to England.

Everywhere one hears soldiers sing the "Engeländ" song.

Young men realized such a venture would be no picnic.

"Maybe 50 of each 100 ships will be sunk by the British," one infantryman from Saxony said to me in his quaint dialect.

"But why shouldn't I be lucky and be on one of the ships that gets over?"

"And if not—well, that just can't be helped."

Another lad from Mecklenburg rubbed his hands and declared:

"Oh, boy! Won't it be great to march on to London?"

Just when Hitler will push the button, however, nobody could predict.

Meanwhile the occupation forces have normalized life in this sector of the front as they did everywhere else.

The Belgians go about their work as usual.

Cafes and restaurants are open with Germans and Belgians mingling freely.

Shops Do Business
Shops are open and goods are sold for either Belgian or German money at a rate of ten francs to one mark. (Before the German invasion the Belgian franc was valued at 33 cents; the nominal rate on the reichmark is 40 cents.)

Germany's western armies battled today to close the right wing of their pincers about allied forces in northern France and Belgium and at the same time poured other divisions into mopping up operations behind their lines before undertaking their next big maneuver.

Adolf Hitler is not likely to attempt to attack England herself until he has paved the way to his satisfaction with a tried and trusted program of these main points:

Destruction of all British naval.

Netherlands Lie in Ruins Holland, Land of Peace and Flowers, Now Bears Savage Pocks of War And Graves of Dutch Defenders

(Lynn Heinzerling of Birmingham, Ohio, Associated Press correspondent who went from Berlin to the Netherlands after the capitulation of the Dutch army, describes conditions in the wake of the German invasion in the following dispatch direct from Holland.)

(By LYNN HEINZERLING)

Rhenen, the Netherlands, May 23 (AP)—Ruins in proud Rotterdam and the crumbled works of "strong points" in Dutch defenses tell the story of the shattering impact of Germany's mechanized army and the devastation rained from the skies by the Nazi stukas (dive bombers).

I have just completed a three-day tour of the Netherlands battle-front in which I have seen the destruction of modern war.

The nerve center of Rotterdam—a square mile of what once was the business and financial district of Holland's most prosperous seaport—is a mass of debris, heaps of bricks and mortar and twisted beams and girders.

Two miles east of here stands what was the southern strong point of the Grebbe defense line—a wooded hill which overlooks the approaches to Rhenen. It was one of the best Dutch defensive positions I saw on the entire tour.

Now the woods are littered with the equipment of war, pock-marked with shell holes and ripped by machine-gun fire. Along the road there is evidence of a hard battle—hastily dug holes, smashed equipment, discarded arms.

Searchlights set in hillside bunkers that were meant to light up night operations were shattered by German gunfire.

In addition to tank barriers, the

Will Give Factual Report to People; Navy Gives Plan

President Roosevelt in Talk to Stress
Economic Problems Including
Agriculture and Labor; Plane
Orders to Be Spread Out

Washington, May 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt will broadcast to the nation Sunday night a defense message described at the White House as a "straight forward and factual report from the government to the people."

The "fireside chat," the chief executive's first since the outbreak of the European War September 3, will be carried by the three national radio networks. It will begin at 9:30 p. m., eastern standard time, and is expected to last about half an hour.

Stephen Early, White House secretary, in making this announcement today, indicated that in addition to talking about the actual rearmament aspects of defense as embodied in his billion-dollar army, navy and air program, Mr. Roosevelt also would touch upon economic problems including those of agriculture and labor.

Other defense developments in the capital today included:

The naval bureau of aeronautics submitted to Congress a tentative plan for speeding up the navy's pilot program to turn out 9,600 trained fliers a year.

Secretary Morgenthau, White House liaison with the airplane industry, said he was obtaining agreements from the industry to spread manufacture of favored types of warplanes and engines among many plants.

The House appropriations committee arranged to hold hearings on the emergency defense appropriations requested by the President and already partially approved by the Senate. Indications were that the House would vote next week on the funds.

Alf M. Landon, the Republican leader, conferred with Secretary Hull for 50 minutes. He announced afterward that he personally was

Landon Challenge
Draws Reply From President's Aides

Chief Executive Has No
Time, Answer Says, for Preparing Political Statements Now

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Alf M. Landon said today, after a conference with Secretary Hull, that he personally was willing that the United States take part in the economic reconstruction of the postwar world.

Landon, the Republican presidential nominee in 1936, went to Hull for a "fill in" on foreign affairs and received it in a fifty-minute conference. Landon said afterwards they had discussed not only Europe but also Latin America and the Far East.

Landon refused to say whether, after his talk with the secretary of state, he supported Hull's policies, but did remind reporters that he had not opposed Secretary Hull's trade agreements program.

"We have a stake in Europe," he told them.

"When the war ends the world will be either on a barter basis or willing to return to normal trade. In the latter case our position is clear. We should help the world to return to normal trade."

He declined to say whether he had discussed with Hull the question of a third term for President Roosevelt, against which he came out strongly in a statement yesterday following a luncheon with the President.

In speaking of Hull he inadvertently used the phrase "President Hull."

Asked by a reporter whether this reflected a subconscious thought, Landon laughingly replied: "If Hull is nominated and the Republicans put up a good man, the country is bound to have a good President no matter who wins."

Report Is Given
Washington, May 23 (AP)—A challenge from Alf M. Landon that President Roosevelt renounce a third term if he wants Republicans to join a coalition defense administration drew this White House retort today:

"The President regrets that he has no time, just now, to give to the preparation of political statements."

Landon declared after a long conference with Mr. Roosevelt yesterday that "political implications" were inescapable in any coalition set-up and that Republicans "can and will participate" only if the President eliminates himself as a 1940 candidate.

In handing his statement to the press, the 1936 Republican presidential nominee said that it could "not be linked" with his meeting with the Chief Executive, as nothing in it was mentioned in their talk.

Advocates Council
Declaring that the present European situation was bound to have "serious implications even for this country," Landon advocated a national council of "leaders and experts in their own fields, the members of which are not merely administration satellites," as de-

Byrnes Says Lindbergh Offers Ostrich-Like Pose for Nation

Recalls Flier Has Nazi Decoration and Asks if He's Authorized to Speak for Hitler and Goering

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Senator Byrnes (D-S.C.) charged Col. Charles A. Lindbergh last night with advocating an ostrich-like attitude for the American people in the present international situation.

The senator's radio speech was regarded as an administration reply to one by the aviator criticizing Roosevelt's foreign policies.

Recalling that Lindbergh had accepted a decoration from the Nazi government, Byrnes asked:

"When Mr. Lindbergh says, 'I am authorized to speak for Hitler or Goering?'

"Can the American people, in the light of recent history, accept the assurance of this young gentleman that if we do not ask for war, it will not come to us? ...

"Did China ask for war? Did Czechoslovakia, Poland, Denmark, Norway, Holland, and Belgium ask for war? No, not one of them did. Yet today these nations have been wiped out and their men, women and children slaughtered."

Lindbergh is no more qualified to offer advice on America's foreign policy, Byrnes asserted, "Than 'Wrong Way' Corrigan or any other aviator who may fly the Atlantic Ocean."

Turning to the aviator's statements that there had been "hysterical chatter of calamity and invasion" and that a "definite policy" of defense was needed, Byrnes said:

"Even Mr. Lindbergh at the end

Liner President Roosevelt Is Given Orders to Get Refugees in Ireland

Washington, May 23 (AP)—The state department, manifesting concern for Americans in Europe's "total war" zone, gave the liner President Roosevelt sailing orders today to go to Ireland and bring back as many as it can accommodate.

To protect the ship against military molestation, the government simultaneously served notice of her peaceful mission on Great Britain, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland and Norway.

The President Roosevelt will sail from New York tonight for Galway, Ireland, where her arrival is expected about May 30.

The return voyage will begin as soon as she has taken aboard all Americans wishing to come home.

The state department's announcement last night of the trip followed by a few hours a blanket warning to Americans to quit Europe's near hostilities, spreading to that area. Americans there numbered 17,955 on January 1.

Since Europe's war reached "all-out" proportions, the state

Youth Killed in Crash at Bearsville Is Said to Have Been Upon Side of Vehicle

Further investigation Wednesday by Sheriff Molyneux, who was joined by B. C. I. Investigator Metzger, into the auto accident near Woodstock Tuesday night, in which James Wellington, 14, was killed and William West, Jr., severely injured, indicates that neither these boys, nor Morton Taylor, all of whom were originally reported to be riding in the rumble seat of the car, actually were on the seat at the time of the crash.

The officials said this morning that their inquiries showed that Wellington, who was almost instantly killed, was sitting on the side of the car, at the end of the rumble seat, with his legs hanging over the side and that West was standing on the left running board of the car.

Taylor Jumps
The third boy, Morton Taylor, who jumped and escaped injury of consequence, apparently was sitting near Wellington and not in the seat, the latter being filled with drums the boys had been using in their drum corps practice.

The investigators said that Mrs. Dorothy Pierpont, in whose car the boys were riding, stated that she was driving toward Woodstock at the rate of about 27 miles an hour, when she saw the car driven by Darwin Wilbur approaching. She noticed the parked Ricketson car standing on the left side of the road, but thought that Wilbur would slow down his car and allow her to pass before cutting around the parked car.

Point Defends Woman
Sheriff Molyneux said that there was clear evidence that at the time the Wilbur and Pierpont cars sideswiped Mrs. Pierpont's car was on its own side of the road and some three feet from the center line of the highway. Investigation of certain angles of the accident is being continued.

Mrs. Pierpont and her two sons, in the front seat of the car, reported no injuries and in view of the fact that the car was not overturned the officials are of the opinion that none of the boys would have been injured had they been seated in the rumble seat.

At the Benedictine Hospital this morning the condition of William West was reported to be fairly good. The boy sustained severe lacerations of both legs and a fracture of the left femur.

O'Connell Promoted
Washington, May 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt today promoted Ambrose O'Connell of New York from second to first assistant postmaster general. O'Connell will succeed William W. Howes, resigned recently because he wanted to become active again in South Dakota politics.

Onslaught Breaks Way To Sea Coast

Duff Cooper Announces
England in Fearful Danger; Invasion Is Feared Imminent

Fighting Rages

Fierce Battle in Progress
Around Boulogne on Channel

(By The Associated Press)
The fall of Abbeville, 12 miles from the English Channel, to German shock troops blasting their way through to the coast, was announced today by Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

"This country is in fearful danger," declared Alfred Duff Cooper, British minister of information.

Heavy fighting is raging around Boulogne, France, on the channel, Churchill said.

"It is too early yet to say what the result of this coastal fighting may be, but it evidently carries with it implications of a serious character," he declared.

French reports yesterday said the Germans had been "chased out" of Abbeville, but once again the Nazi onslaught has broken through to the sea.

Simultaneously Clement R. Attlee, deputy leader in the House of Commons, disclosed that the governments of both Britain and Ireland were apprehensively "alive to the possibilities" of an invasion through Ireland.

Threat Is Grave
As emphasized by Churchill, the threat of a Nazi invasion was apparently becoming hourly more grave.

Possibly as a preparation for this heralded next blow in Hitler's "total war" scheme, power-diving Stuka bombers and wasp-like German speedboats smashed at channel communications.

Meanwhile, Premier Mussolini summoned the Italian supreme defense council into session, perhaps auguring the long-awaited Italian decision to enter the war.

Count Galeazzo Ciano, Il Duce's No. 1 man and foreign minister, who has been inspecting Italian-held Albania, left for the Yugoslav border—focal tension point where Yugoslav troops have long been massed to meet any Italian invasion.

A German break-through in the fierce fighting for control of English Channel ports imperilled communications between 550,000 allied troops "pocketed" in northern France and 1,000,000 French soldiers to the south.

"There is a gap between the two armies," a British spokesman admitted. "The allied situation on the western front is extremely grave."

Besides the vital line of communications being endangered, a British expeditionary force communique acknowledged that the Germans had reached "the neighborhood of the coast" on the English channel.

The German high command reported the harbor facilities at Dover, England, and Dunkerque, France, had been "effectually bombed."

Apparently the Germans were trying to prevent either the flight of the so-called "trapped" British troops from Dunkerque or the cross-channel transportation of reinforcements from Dover.

Coincidentally, emphasizing the gravity of the allied position in the 14-day-old war in the west, Berlin sources asserted that British troops falling back toward the

General War Supply Board to Become Division of Italian Cabinet

Rome, May 23 (AP)—Premier Mussolini, continuing Italy's war preparations on the eve of the 25th anniversary of her entry into the World War, today ordered the general board of war manufactures made into a cabinet division.

The new division will be headed by an undersecretary of state directly responsible to Il Duce.

Rome University students today told Mussolini they would consider it "an honor and cause of pride to fight for the liberty and independence of the Italian empire" and protested against "threats of injuries by nations aiming to suffocate the young strength of Fascist Italy."

Red Cross Urges War Fund Action; City Drive Begins

Meeting Wednesday afternoon in an endeavor to speed up the drive for the American Red Cross War Relief Fund, members of former Senator Charles W. Walton's sub-committee of the Ulster County Chapter practically completed plans for a concerted effort by city and county to raise the $10,000 quota.

From the meeting of the sub-committee came the decision to have the city of Kingston work as a unit towards the $5,000 quota—half of the local chapter's allotment. It was decided that henceforth individual contributions would not be published, but instead, timely reports of the progress of individual city wards and communities in the county would be published.

Other matters brought before the sub-committee were: The method of solicitation, which will rest with the chairmen of the wards or towns; the matter of suitable receipts, which will be printed and ready for distribution by Friday; and the question of credit for contributions, which brought the announcement that each ward or town would receive full credit notwithstanding the manner in which the contribution was made or where it was received.

Japanese Soldiers Pay Chinese for Their Stamps

Shanghai—One of the many cockeyed—but typically Oriental—arrangements resulting from Japan's undeclared war on China is exemplified in the administration and management of this country's great network of postal communications.

The entire postal system, including all offices in the wide slices of territory occupied by Japanese military forces, is still controlled and operated by the Chungking government.

When a Japanese soldier buys a stamp for a letter to a buddy elsewhere in China, his five cents go into the treasury of the Chinese government. China reciprocates by transporting the letter, and a Chinese postman delivers it to its destination.

Since the postal service has not shown any profit since 1933, it costs Chungking a large sum annually to keep the mails running for the invaders. On the other hand, the Chinese get the income from mails carried by Japanese air planes and ships.

The Japanese have grabbed almost all paying business in occupied China, but beyond installing their own censors have kept strictly away from the postal organization.

This is mainly due to the fact that, under international postal agreements, only Chinese stamps can be used on mail originating in China.

(U. P. Feature Service)

While France fights for her life on the northern part of the western front, she must keep thousands of troops on the southern part, far from the scene of battle. That's because Germany might try to flank the Maginot line along the routes indicated by arrows. It's also because Italy might suddenly decide to become Germany's fighting ally and try to break through the mountain passes into France.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Third Company Is Excluded From All Printing Contracts

Albany, N. Y., May 23 (U. P.)—A third company was excluded from any share in New York's 1940-41 printing contracts today as state purchase officials called for bids next Monday on election supplies.

Bids on sessions laws and departmental printing will be opened June 20.

A three-months investigation of alleged irregularities in the state $2,000,000 printing contracts yesterday brought elimination of J. B. Lyon Company and the Burland Printing Company, New York city, from participating in the new work.

Commissioner of Standards and Purchase Joseph V. O'Leary said the testimony developed "satisfied" him they should "not be asked to enter any bids."

The two firms, which for years have produced the bulk of state printing, were ignored when proposals were mailed to 50 firms on a list of what O'Leary termed "acceptable bidders."

Subsequently the commissioner said in an interview no proposal had been mailed to the Latham Lithographing and Printing Company, New York city, and no bid offered by them would be accepted.

He explained, however, this was only because the firm has been designated by the courts as "successor" to Burland, during bankruptcy proceedings involving the latter.

Students Hold War Debate
"Should the United States Enter the 1940 European World War?" was the topic for debate Wednesday afternoon at Spencer Business School. Rudy Eckl and Charles Gumaer spoke for the affirmative while Miss Alma Harris and Miss Evelyn Legg addressed the students from the negative side. With Mr. Eckl leading the affirmative side the victory. The debate was conducted by Roger Johnson and after all the speakers were finished, the class held a general discussion under the supervision of Mrs. Elsie Myers Pultz.

Landon 'Challenge' Draws Reply From President's Aides

desirable to head the defense program. "But unfortunately for the country," he added, "the leadership is in the hands of a man who has not eliminated himself as a candidate for an indefinite term as president, who at the moment has pledged to him more than enough delegates to take the Democratic nomination if he wants it."

If the President is interested in "unselfish service" from Republicans, he said, he should "publicly and forthrightly eliminate himself as a third term candidate."

"Instead of weakening his position, this action would strengthen it. The President would become the leader of the nation instead of the head of a party."

Early Issues Reply

After the President was shown a copy of the statement, his press secretary, Stephen Early, issued a formal reply.

"He (the President) is too busy engaged with problems of far greater national importance," he said.

"He is, however, very grateful to the ex-governor of Kansas, who was his luncheon guest today for his suggestions contained in the statement the governor has written for the press."

"None of the subjects mentioned by Mr. Landon in his statement at the luncheon, except only the seriousness of the military situation in Europe. The President was very glad to receive Mr. Landon."

Aside from Landon's formal statement, handed to about 75 reporters at a hotel near the White House, the titular head of the Republican party threw little light on his talk with Mr. Roosevelt.

He said he had a "grand visit talking about ships, shoes, sealing wax, cabbages and kings," that he had been offered no cabinet or any other job in the administration, and that the third term question was "casually mentioned."

"Did the President make any promise that he would not run?" he was asked.

'It Wasn't Discussed'

"It wasn't discussed in that way," Landon replied. "There was no emphasis to it."

"Did you get the impression he was going to run?"

"No impression was given out," Landon said he had not discussed his participation in any way in the defense program. When asked, "What did he call you here for?" he replied: "You will have to ask the President."

Prominent Republicans here agreed with Landon's statement that "any Republican leader who takes a position in the present set-up from the standpoint of unselfish national service is making himself a party to this third or indefinite term move."

Adopting the tone of most commentators within the party, Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, a presidential aspirant, asserted that Mr. Roosevelt could get all the cooperation he wanted "if he would say he is not a candidate."

Friends of Rep. Wadsworth (R., N. Y.) reported that he would decline a cabinet offer if tendered. Wadsworth has been invited to a White House conference following calls by Landon and Col. Frank Knox, Landon's running mate four years ago.

Policeman Is Killed

New York, May 23 (AP)—Patrolman William A. O'Neill, 45, was shot to death early today as he sat talking with his wife's 78-year-old blind mother. Shortly afterward Mrs. Catherine O'Neill, the patrolman's 53-year-old wife, walked into the Kingsbridge police station in the Bronx and surrendered to Desk Sergeant William Butler. After six hours of questioning she was booked on a charge of homicide.

Lasher Sells Saugerties Business

Lasher building on Main street. Saugerties, which was recently sold to Henry S. Hartley and Henry A. Lamouree, who will conduct the furniture and furniture business. The Lasher firm name will be continued and Coroner Lasher will remain with the firm for the present time.

One of the largest real estate transactions in the town of Saugerties in recent years was completed this week when Norvin R. Lasher sold his entire stock and building located on Main street, Saugerties, to Henry S. Hartley and Henry A. Lamouree, both of Saugerties.

Mr. Lasher has been in the furniture and funeral business since May, 1916, when he purchased the Seamen Block on Main street from the late Seamen Brothers. The three-story building also houses the Prudential Insurance Co. and until a few years ago was the home of the Saugerties post office. Besides the modern funeral home there are also apartments.

Mr. Hartley, one of the new owners, has been employed as embalmer for Mr. Lasher since 1935, coming to Saugerties from Gouverneur, N. Y. He is a graduate of the Elkland High School, Elkland, Pa., and Penn State College. In 1930 Mr. Hartley graduated from the Eckel College of Embalming, Philadelphia, Pa. He was granted his New York state embalming license in 1931.

Mr. Lamouree is a native of Saugerties and until the present time has been deputy commissioner of public welfare in charge of old age assistance in Ulster county. From 1929 to 1933, Mr. Lamouree served the town of Saugerties as its supervisor. He also has served as town assessor. An ex-service man, he was a member of the crew of the C-10 naval dirigible during the World War.

The new owners will take possession on July 1 and will continue the business under the present name, the Lasher Furniture Service and Lasher Funeral Exchange. Mr. Lasher, who is one of the coroners of Ulster county, his term expiring this year, will continue in the new firm for the present.

The transaction was handled by George F. Kauffman, attorney for Mr. Lasher. Hartley and Lamouree were represented by Attorney Roscoe V. Elsworth.

Nazis at Channel Ready for Attack

air and ground organization by air raiding.

Similar destruction of airplanes and vessels. Combined attack by speedboats, submarines and air bombers on British transports and warships. Not until the fatter feels that this has been done satisfactorily is he likely to aim a decisive blow with land forces.

Bombing Is Continuous

Continuous bombing of the Belgian channel port of Ostend and the French ports of Dunkerque, Calais and Dieppe is in line with this in the continental fighting, the intention being to demolish docks to which British reinforcements might come and from which British and allied troops might escape in event of a rout.

Another thing the Germans are doing now is to try to smash enough Belgian and French airports to prevent the continental allies from bringing effective aid to England in the event she needs it during any German attack on the British Isles.

The Battle fortress, one of Belgium's last big fortifications of the famed Liege line, fell yesterday in one of these mopping up operations. I saw it taken in a 20-minute artillery, air and infantry attack on clock-like precision.

Other such positions seemed destined to follow with the same German efficiency.

This precision baffles the observer again and again. When two days ago we stood on the heights of Renaix to see allied troops retire, our escort told us that at 3:30 p. m. the crossing of the Scheldt canal would begin. At 3:15 on the road directly below us motor trucks carrying huge pontoons were rattling by.

They were hurrying to get into action, as always, at the appointed hour.

$5,000,000 Suit for Losses Is Filed by Drug Firm Trustee

Roper Says U. S. Should Give More Credits to Aid Allies

Toronto, May 23 (AP)—Daniel C. Roper, former United States secretary of commerce and former minister to Canada, voiced dissatisfaction today "with our American situation in respect to credits for the allies."

Supplies of all kinds, he said, should be conveyed to the allies by the United States in every possible way, by barter or otherwise.

Addressing the first International Credit Men's Congress, Roper declared:

"Our neutrality law unintentionally misrepresents our national purposes and embarrasses the operation of our domestic ideals."

"Both the neutrality law and the Johnson Act (which prohibits the extension of United States credits to debtor nations) should be amended to meet our responsibilities in the present-day crisis."

"All essential supplies should be exempted from the 'cash-and-carry' restrictions."

Roper declared that the idea of a League of Nations again would be in the minds of peace-makers when the war ends, and said the United States must "assume proper responsibilities in this connection."

"I believe that, had the terms of the Versailles peace treaty been less drastic and had the United States joined the League of Nations promptly, we would never have heard of Hitler and the present war would have been avoided," he said.

For post-war relations between the United States and Canada, he proposed a principle of "economic union with political federalism and cooperation."

Man Trapped as Fire Razes House

tween the Shokan church and the Ruckert property and was erected some 25 years ago. It stood opposite the Winchell store at the Shokan corner and faced the Ashokan boulevard.

When the flames were first discovered they were burning fiercely on the lower floor and had made such progress that it was impossible to determine where they had started. So quickly did the fire spread that Cully was trapped on the upper floor and he was unable to save any of his personal belongings and when discovered was compelled to lean from the window to avoid being suffocated.

The flames were discovered about 11:30 o'clock and neighbors found it impossible to save any of the household furnishings. The property was a complete loss together with personal belongings in the house and also furniture stored in a garage at the rear of the house. The garage was completely destroyed despite efforts of the Woodstock fire department which was summoned but was able to render little aid after water from the well was exhausted.

It was raining at the time and adjacent buildings were wet, preventing a spread of the fire to other properties in the village. The fact that it was raining probably saved the church and church shed as well as the Ruckert property.

Mrs. Hansen, former proprietor of the Whitestone Inn at Samsonville, was not at home at the time. It was stated that there was some insurance on the premises.

INTERNATIONAL CRIME

Suppose people living on one side of the street, right here in your own city, should decide that they wanted the property on the other side, and should cross over and shoot and eject the owners and take possession. There is no question as to what everybody else would think of that. We have civilized rules for property transfer.

Well, the same violent procedure is now being used on a vast scale in Europe and Asia, and it threatens to overrun the world.

Surely we must apply private moral principles to public and international life, if we want to save what is left of this shaky civilization.

Perhaps the best rule we have, outside the Holy Writ, is the one laid down by a great German philosopher, Immanuel Kant. He called it a "categorical imperative." The point of it is that everybody, in choosing his own course of conduct, should think what would happen if he and everybody made it a rule of life. If everybody stole and lied and killed, mankind would exterminate itself. Principles of human conduct should be applicable always and everywhere.

Surely those parts of the world, mainly democracies, that try to follow this constructive rule in these chaotic times, must be supported by sane and forward-looking people. And groups and nations that ignore it, and acknowledge no control but their own predatory will, must be opposed. Otherwise our civilization perishes.

GOLD FOR RECONSTRUCTION

Perhaps we are coming a little nearer to solution of a great mystery—what we are going to do with that vast gold cache in the Federal treasury.

There seems to be no danger, as yet, that other nations will all go off a gold basis permanently and leave us sitting helplessly on our money bags. The Nazis, though seemingly able to operate their currency on air, still grab what gold they can by looting their neighbors.

Meanwhile our hoard, which includes about $3,000,000,000 of short-term balances subject to call, must be somewhere near the vast total of $20,000,000,000. A good deal of it serves as backing for our own currency, but so much of it is free that some financiers say it could serve as basis for a hundred billions of currency.

So what? Well, if Hitler doesn't send an air fleet over here to take it before we get our own fleet built, and if there comes an economic collapse abroad at the end of the war, some experts are saying that gold might serve to restore world credit and business.

And it wouldn't be altogether philanthropic, either. We might be able to rebuild world trade on a profitable basis for ourselves.

GUILTY AS CHARGED!

Fire—the great destroyer—is having a fine time this year.

During the first three months of the year, it turned $100,459,700 worth of property into ash and debris. It thus exceeded its record for the same period in 1939, when property valued at $87,600,000 went up in smoke and flame.

No data is available on the number of lives taken by fire in the first quarter, but, going by past precedents, it took more than 2,000. That many people met one of the most horrible of deaths.

It's only human when we read figures like this, to shrug, shake our heads, say "Too bad!" and promptly forget them. And that human weakness is the main reason why fire is such a "glowing success." Fire waxes fat on human lethargy and laziness—even as it prospers on human forgetfulness and ignorance. Few men ever start a destructive fire deliberately—but it's a rare man who hasn't carelessly taken a chance or overlooked a hazard that made fire more probable.

And so it is up to you whether fire continues its inexorable ravages. Don't try to console yourself with the thought that fires are inevitable—less than two in ten fall into that category. And don't argue that fire prevention is the other fellow's business—it's your own personal business, and everybody else's business too.

The fact that fire destroys around $400,000,000 worth of property and 10,000 lives each year in this country is a severe indictment of the American people. The only possible plea is "Guilty as charged!" Will we permit fire's ravages to continue?

RESEARCH IN CHINA

The Chinese are indeed an amazing people. Not long ago they asked foreign friends to send them books to be used by students and teachers driven away from their buildings and equipment, who had set up school again with nothing but their determination to keep going.

Now they ask American scientists who have scientific books and reprints to spare, to send them to China to help research workers trying to carry on there.

"Owing to our hurried departure from Nanking, more than 200,000 volumes fell into the hands of the Japanese, who set them, together with the valuable collections of other institutions, on fire," writes the librarian of the National Central Library.

The library has been moved to Chungking, provisional capital of the Chinese republic, and from there lends what books and publications it has to scientific workers in other parts of the country, sending the material by mail.

The Japanese, who have been trying to sow ignorance as well as physical destruction in China, can hardly succeed against such determination as this.

POETRY WEEK

National Poetry Week, May 18 to 26, is observed in a variety of interesting ways. There are radio talks about poets and their poetry and programs on which poetry is read aloud. Contests in poetry writing and a poetry reading tournament for high school pupils are other features of the week.

Poetry used to be one of those things people either understood and enjoyed thoroughly or else knew nothing about. It is hoped that the activities of National Poetry Week may increase the first group by informing the second.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)
STOMACH CANCER—EARLY SIGNS

As it is known that early treatment of cancer will save life, physicians everywhere are advising patients with symptoms in any way resembling cancer, to report immediately to their physician for the tests of cancer that now can be made.

In cancer of the mouth and skin where any sore or growth can be seen, the cancer can be removed by use of X-rays, radium, or by operation. It is in places such as the stomach that symptoms of cancer may be present which the patient does not consider serious enough to even report to his physician.

What should men and women past thirty years of age give early thought to stomach symptoms is a study of the early symptoms of cancer of the stomach in 251 cases made by Dr. Sara M. Jordan, Boston, in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Jordan points out that when the general practitioner or the specialist in diseases of the stomach and intestine are consulted, they are in a position to tell the patient whether or not cancer of the stomach is present by the use of X-rays, test meals, and the gastroscopy which enables the physician to see the inside of the stomach. The whole trouble is that patients will not consult their physician when the first signs of stomach cancer occur.

What are the first signs of cancer of the stomach?

Dr. Jordan's investigations show that the first signs in the great majority of cases are:

- (a) pain or distress in stomach region or in upper right side of abdomen,
- (b) loss of appetite,
- (c) loss of weight and strength,
- (d) vomiting.

In what type of patient does cancer of the stomach occur?

The investigations showed that all persons over 30, men twice as often as women, should be suspected of cancer of the stomach when the above symptoms are present. It would thus appear that women seek relief from their symptoms earlier than men.

The simple and commonsense suggestions made by Dr. Jordan are:

1. Cancer of the stomach should be suspected in any patient over 30 complaining of "any" digestive symptom, but especially abdominal distress or loss of appetite, weight, and strength.
2. Middle-aged patients who complain of tiredness or anemia may be early cancer cases.
3. Patients who are known to lack sufficient hydrochloric acid in their stomach digestive juice and patients with healed stomach ulcers, should be carefully watched.
4. Patients should be warned of the need of early and frequent examination if unexplained symptoms continue for any time.

Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

Washington — The Department of Commerce is on the spot.

It was put there by 46 senators, who voted for President Roosevelt's Reorganization Plan No. IV and threw the independent Civil Aeronautics Authority back into the department.

The situation was this: Two years ago, after more than three years of wrangling, investigating and lobbying, the McCarran-Lea bill knocked out the Bureau of Air Commerce (then in the Commerce department) and set up the independent CAA. Although it is not generally known, this really was one of Jimmy Roosevelt's babies when he was secretary to his father.

The CAA was made up of a five-man board, whose duties consisted principally of establishing rules, regulations and standards; an administrator in charge of the physical set-up of the bureau of federal airways, safety regulation, private flying and certificate and inspection; and the three-man air safety board, charged independently with investigating all accidents, determining their cause and reporting to the CAA board for action.

On March 29, 1940, less than two years after this new agency started functioning, the commercial airlines established the comparatively amazing record of flying 87,500,000 miles, carrying more than 2,000,000 passengers, without a single fatal accident.

Hit House First

On April 11, while the bouquets still were showering down, the President showed his little bombshell: Reorganization Plan No. IV, which abolishes the Air Safety board entirely, and puts the CAA back into the Commerce department. Under the law, unless BOTH houses of Congress vetoed the plan within 60 days, it was to become effective.

The hullabaloo that this order raised almost knocked the dome off the capitol. The scrap, for weeks, shared editorial honors with the war in Europe.

The house of representatives, where such critical downpours were felt first (especially in election year) hastened to vote on the order and opposed it by the healthy vote of 232 to 153.

The senate, aware of the seriousness of the matter, took two days out to debate it, even after the long hearings in committee. It was in the heat of these arguments, coupled with the vote that upheld the order, that the Department of Commerce was put on the spot. Dire things have been predicted for aviation. It's charged that the order is a kickback to the days when the infant transportation industry was a political football with human lives at stake. Let one fatal accident occur in commercial aviation after June 11, when the new order becomes effective, and there'll be an investigation from here to Borneo.

Guessing Game

What actually was behind the order is another of those capital mysteries that may never be solved. The President said simply that it was to correct economy, more adequate supervision, and eliminate friction that now exists in CAA.

C. B. Allen, former New York newspaperman, and Tom Hardin, ace pilot, will lose their jobs when the safety board is abolished (Sumpter Smith, other member, already had resigned to become director of the national airport). Allen has his own private explanation for the order.

"My mother," says Allen, "always was very proud of me. Everytime I took a step up the ladder or achieved some little success she'd say 'I knew it, son, you are going a long way.' But never in her wildest dreams did she ever think I would reach such heights that the President of the United States would burn a house down just to get me out of it."

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Who recalls the days of the "tens, twenties and thirties" as the traveling stock companies were known in the days at the turn of the century, when top price for an orchestra seat was 30 cents while the gallery gods were admitted for a dime. These stock companies always played a repertoire of popular melodramas with a matinee performance each day, except opening days on Mondays.

Those were the days when the old Liscomb Opera House, now the remodeled Orpheum Theatre, and the old Kingston Opera House were in the hey-day of their popularity, and such plays as "Under the Red Robe" and "Northern Lights" always made a hit with an audience.

There are many of the older readers who can recall when as boys with but a dime in their possession and the hope of getting a front row in the balcony, they would gather around the doors of the opera house early.

Those were the days of the real rush, and it required the services of a policeman to try and keep the mob of youngsters in control and prevent them from shoving in the closed doors of the theatre. Boys who had taken part in other rushes wisely wore their oldest clothes, knowing that in the mad rush for the ticket office when the doors opened that their clothes were apt to be much the worse for wear and tear, mostly tears.

Older readers, if they close their eyes and unroll memory's reel, can almost see the theatre doors sway inward, as the boys and youth swayed back and forth while the cop on duty would yell "Keep back there, keep back."

And then when the doors finally swung open, the cop would almost be taken off his feet in the rush of the boys for the ticket window, located just inside the main entrance.

The gallery gods, as the boys in the balcony were known in the 1900's, had little respect for bad acting and had no hesitation in showing that the actor was bad by showering him with spitballs and chewing gum, not to mention vegetables of uncertain age. The fact that a cop was on duty in the balcony did not prevent the boys from peeping those on the stage, for the cop could not be all over the gallery at one and the same time.

But on the other hand if the show was good and the acting up to the mark the gallery gods show their appreciation with loud and prolonged applause.

A magic name to the boys and girls of the early 1900's was that of Charles K. Champlin, who played Kingston regularly each winter with a list of exceptionally good plays. In this city Champlin was always assured of a week of crowded houses and hearty applause.

In 1914, when he made his annual trip here in the course of his 17th tour, he was meeting with success in all places he played. Among the plays he staged that season were "The Heart of Mary" and "The Man From Home."

Another play was "He Fell in Love With His Wife" from the novel of that name written by the late Rev. E. P. Roe of New Windsor, who had written his first novel "Barriers Burned Away," a story of the great Chicago fire, while pastor of the Highland Falls Church. The Rev. Mr. Roe died while a resident in Cornwall.

Overshadowing Issue in Presidential Campaign Is What Group Shall Administer National Defense Program

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 23 — The American people are going to have before them in the coming presidential election an issue which did not exist a week ago, but which now appears to overshadow everything else. It is whether the national defense program shall be left in the hands of New Deal bureaucrats and retained as a partisan proposition, or whether the army and navy advice is to be accepted.

Within the last few days, every important request of the army and navy that in any way interfered with the political objectives of the administration has been rejected. The spectacle of America starting to prepare for war by ignoring the men expert in military matters is an amazing one, but not at all surprising in democracies, where personal ambition means more than patriotism to most politicians.

Today the labor politicians are in control of the government. Their insistence on keeping the business and industrial leaders of the country out of any share in the management of the war preparations America must make is already raising serious questions. It is reflected in the decision of President Roosevelt not to create any war industries board such as commanded the economic machine in the last war, but to let all New Deal cabinet officers and agency heads control exactly as they have before the war emergency arose.

Men of skill and experience in the business world will be invited down to sit in here and there alongside of New Dealers on the dollar a year plan, but the former will be mere window-dressing in the political scheme. It is a shock to state of affairs, as long as there is a free press the truth has to be told.

The theory that because America is not actually in the war, no change in the management of the government's relations with business and industry need be made will be defended by the New Dealers on the ground that as vigorously will the proposition now be asserted that the American people must decide in the 1940 election whether they want industry to have any voice in the production machine, or whether some of the so-called "social reforms" shall be relaxed.

The truth is, the administration knows the Walsh-Hooley act must be materially modified. This is the law which gives the secretary of labor absolute power over wages and working conditions in every business which takes a government contract. Rather than take government contracts and accept domination many businesses have avoided the bidding altogether. Any impartial inquiry of neglect of our defenses will reveal that procrastination in the getting of steel for the navy is related to the arbitrarily interpreted provisions of the Walsh-Hooley law. It was thought that the courts would remove the arbitrary features, and a circuit court of appeals did so order, but the supreme court in an opinion by Justice Black ruled otherwise.

Likewise, the wage and hour laws need changing so as to permit high-speed production. But the administration is afraid of labor's point of view. It is evidently not afraid of an aroused public opinion, which believes in national defense first and social reform second.

The attitude of the New Dealers here is significant because it is manifested at the very time that the British democracy has had to put through its parliament laws that conscript labor and capital. There is no doubt that restrictions upon profiteering should be imposed in the United States and that everybody must submit to governmental dictation when war defense is being built, but business men see no chance to increase production if they surrender to an already one-sided government which has less interest in seeing the production machine operated efficiently than it has in the political support of pressure groups.

The visit of former Governor Alfred Landon of Kansas, Republican standard bearer in 1936, to the White House and his subsequent announcement that if the President is "equally interested in unselfish service, he should publicly and forthwith eliminate himself as a third-term candidate" is but the beginning of a nationwide demand that if the President is to remain in office, he must give business and industry a chance to function efficiently in relation to the government's needs from a military, naval, and aerial defense viewpoint.

It is most unfortunate that the Republican party has been weak in Congress as an opposition party. But in the last 24 hours Senator Austin, of Vermont, acting minority leader, has proposed that in the building of armaments and munitions production there be a non-partisan commission of experts to whom Congress shall delegate full authority to deal with the production machine. It will be interesting to see how this proposal fares in Congress. But it represents the beginning of the inevitable process of making a record so that the American people can vote for or against business and industry representatives who put politics above patriotism and who insist on retaining partisan control of national defense at a time when the whole world is on fire and national security is menaced by the biggest conflagration that democracy has ever faced.

SHOKAN

Shokan, May 23.—Miss Helen Matland of New York is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Matland.

The local bridge club meeting, scheduled for Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss Carrie Brooks was postponed until next week.

A stubborn chimney fire at the Francis Hughes residence Tuesday morning brought the D. W. S. fire fighters and the Woodstock firemen to the scene. The interior of the house was somewhat damaged before the fire was finally put out.

Mrs. Charles Peck is visiting Mr. Robert B. Peck at the latter's summer home on the upper mountain road.

The water in the east basin of the Ashokan is nearing the normal flowline. The west basin is still overflowing at the dividing weir. There were a number of fishermen at the weir Sunday and others were observed at several points on the shores of the upper basin.

Callers here Saturday afternoon included Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ficke and two sons of the Bronx. The Fickes, who are spending the week at West Hurley have been frequent visitors to Shokan for several summers.

The condition of Benjamin Van Steenburgh, who is seriously ill of pneumonia at a Kingston hospital, shows no change for the better at this writing.

A real estate transfer of May 23 1937, was that of a property on the west side of the Esopus Creek from John M. Burgher to Lewis B. Burgher. The J. M. Burgher farm near Shokan comprised 180 acres.

First spring services of the Old School Baptists were held Sunday in the Olive and Hurley meeting house here.

Mrs. William Mulligan of New York has been spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. C. G. Fuller of Mountain Laurel Lodge.

Members of the Edward C. Bosstock family of Bryn Athyn, Pa., were at their mountain road place over the week-end.

Chairman Julia Winchell of the Olive Red Cross is receiving contributions for the European War fund. The Olive goal has been set at $200.

Mrs. Amasa Slawon of Kingston is reported much improved, following a long illness during which time she was confined to her bed.

The aerator down at the reservoir is still inactive, pending completion of annual repairs to the stone and cement floor of the basin.

Robert Secor, a former Shokan man, is reported as ill at his home in Kingston. Mr. Secor for several years has been a member of the sales force at the uptown Bull Market.

The heavy rain of Monday night proved highly beneficial to growing crops. Grass and trees are staging a fine early growth in this section. There is a heavy set of apple blossoms on most farms. The brooks, which had been running

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, May 23.—The Rondout Valley Sunday School Association will hold its fourth quarterly rally on Friday evening, May 24, at 8:15 o'clock in the High Falls Reformed Church. An address will be given by Miss Julia Heines.

The Mothers' Club of the High Falls school will hold a food sale on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Ellis Briggs Saturday, June 1, beginning at 11 o'clock.

The service of St. John's Guild was held in the parish house on Thursday evening. During the evening the election of officers was held.

Mrs. Theodore Bunting of Kyserville spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. Mary Shelley.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Stokes have rented the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blakely.

Mrs. Peter Anderson is spending the week in Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clearwater and Margaret Schoonmaker of Poughkeepsie spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Schoonmaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Weiss of Brooklyn spent the week-end at their home.

Woodstock

By MARGUERITE HURTER

Woodstock, May 22.—Altogether it is a depressing day up here in the mountains. What with war news and the fact that last night a young boy, Jimmie Wellington, was killed in an automobile collision up near Bearville way. This has put all the school children into mourning. Jimmie attended Kingston High School and was most popular in the younger crowd of Woodstockers. He lost his life in a three-way collision which leaves much doubt up here as to how such a thing could happen. The boys were on their way home from the Fire and Drum Corps. Much was being planned for the parade Memorial Day. Now the drums and trumpets are smashed and there will be a funeral instead of a parade. On Memorial Day in Woodstock they will play "Taps" for dear Jimmie Wellington.

Yesterday we dropped in to see Hervey White at the Maverick and took tea. We like Hervey and his ideas. We also like Genevieve Whiteley of the Maverick, daughter of Marian Whiteley of the famous Desti house. Genevieve can have a career on the stage, but prefers to be a gym teacher. She has startling charm.

Sunday was the birthday of Mrs. Carl Lindin. Denny Whiteley married Karen Lindin. They have a cunning little boy, Bruce, who turned somersaults.

Gertrude Finckel, wife of George Finckel, is running the Intelligentsia restaurant at the Maverick. There is a large coffee mill before the place and it looks like a cozy spot for a chat. The prices are low and Hervey believes young artists in the Maverick should be able to get a bite to eat without digging too deeply into their sometimes shabby pockets. Hervey has forever been fighting the machine age, and whatever happens to the world, thanks to Hervey White, we think the Maverick will always be a nice place.

The Maverick Theatre this year will house a dramatic school under the direction of E. J. Ballantine. While on the subject of dramatics it occurs to us to mention that Charlie Keef, of the Wheel Inn, on the Woodstock-Saugerties road, looks like Raymond Hitchcock. And maybe Joe Morgan could stand in for Don Ameche if he becomes bored with cartoons. At the moment he is being nonchalant in Woodstock, but promises to make us some funny caricatures of Woodstock folks. Joe can be quick on the pencil, so watch it! He did one of Edith Chaplin we are trying to sneak off for you.

Louise Hellstrom had Lydia Locke with her cohorts over the week-end. Lydia is very swank with eyes that make men swoon, and a nice sister and secretary with her. Lydia has had a yacht and a large estate somewhere across the river to make her prominent in the society columns. Also in Woodstock over the week-end Mrs. Harry Van Dyke Card of New York.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, May 23.—The ladies of the parish of the Church of The Presentation will hold their annual card party this evening at 8:15 o'clock in St. Leo's hall. Refreshments will be served and the public is invited.

Mrs. Floyd Ellsworth and family called last evening on Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cole of Ulster Park. The Dorcas Society will meet Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Reformed Church hall. Mrs. H. H. Vincent called yesterday on Mrs. Lucie Bishop and Miss Mary Bishop.

Gallop Director Talks to Rotary

William A. Lydgate, associate director of the Gallop Poll and editor of the American Institute of Public Opinion, gave an informative and delightful talk at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club held Wednesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The speaker brought out many interesting points in discussing the method of taking a poll and the reaction of public opinion to politics and war today.

Mr. Lydgate emphasized the importance of securing accuracy in prognostications by interviews of types rather than by large numbers. In political polls age, income and past political affiliation were grouped for the cross section opinion. At the last New York state gubernatorial election, the Gallop Poll was within one-half of one per cent of correctly forecasting the election of Governor Lehman over Thomas E. Dewey. There were but 1,500 people interviewed and over 4,000,000 residents cast their votes.

The chances of a person being interviewed by the Gallop interviewers, who number about one thousand working part time, is in about the same proportion as your chance of winning the Irish sweepstakes.

The Gallop interviewers receive unbelievable cooperation on the part of the public and at times a great many peddlers use the Gallop name in order to gain entrance to a home before pushing out their wares.

The accuracy of the vote forecast for Governor Lehman was so near perfect that a great many people expect all the polls to be as accurate. However, the speaker said that there is no valid reason why a poll should not be within three per cent of being accurate. Their polls in the past several years have resulted in being accurate by a smaller margin than three per cent.

In the reaction of public opinion to politics, the editor declared the independent voter would decide the next national election. Those normally Republican and Democratic make up but 50 per cent of the entire vote cast, being divided about equally.

Recent polls have shown that the country is definitely conservative and that the Republican party has been consistently gaining in popularity.

The sentiment in the country was for helping the allies in every manner except actually taking up arms. This feeling has increased in recent weeks.

Before the invasion of Denmark by Germany, there was strong sentiment against a third term for President Roosevelt. He also brought out that when Congress was in session, the President's po-larity would shoot down, but when he went on a fishing trip it would go right up again.

The consensus of opinion for increased national defense, with the voters paying the shot through increased or special taxation was favorable and not only today but back when Hitler's forces first started their blitzkriegs. So if we are not adequately protected it is not the fault of the rank and file of the common people the speaker declared.

Sentiment before the recent spread of the European War was against sending boys to the C.C.C. camps. But it is doubtful now that the same result would be shown.

A large percentage expressed the belief that the Allies would win, but these figures were altered downward in the past several weeks.

Visiting Rotarians present were H. E. Dexter of Poughkeepsie and Lowell Gypson of Albany. Guests present included Kenneth A. Simpson, Floyd Terwilliger and Bill Van Valkenburgh of Kingston and Jack Low of Albany.

Chairman Program Alfred Schmid, who was congratulated by the Rotarians for his re-election to the presidency of the Board of Education, announced that a secret service agent would be present at the next Wednesday's luncheon.

Blind Sale Shows Fine Workmanship

The Albany Association of the Blind calls attention to the importance of patronizing the blind. The sightless producers of the State depend on these sales not only to keep them busy but also to enable them to be independent, and self supporting. It has taken many years to build up this constructive work for the blind, and the Association is sure that the many friends of the sightless in Kingston will keep this work active.

Visit the sale which is being held at 726 Broadway and see for yourself the excellent workmanship which the blind workers put into each article they make.

The following committees will be in charge of the sale on Friday May 24:

From 10 a. m. to 2 p. m.: St. John's Episcopal: Mrs. Raymond Craft, chairman, assisted by Mrs. P. K. Brimmer, Mrs. W. Babcock, Mrs. Bertrand Burr, Mrs. Joseph Craig, Mrs. Reynolds Carr, Miss Mary Connors, Mrs. Frank Campbell, Mrs. C. DuBois, Mrs. Walter Elston, Mrs. Raymond Gross, Mrs. J. T. Garland, Mrs. Frederick Holcomb, Mrs. John Herlihy, Mrs. Harry Kaprielian, Mrs. Charles Kersta, Mrs. Charles B. Mittlesteadt, Mrs. Lancelot Phelps, Miss Grace Reeve, Mrs. G. H. Leger.

From 2 p. m. to 5 p. m.: First Presbyterian: Mrs. Lewis B. Shaw, chairman, assisted by Mrs. William J. McVey, Mrs. C. Van Valkenburgh, Mrs. C. A. Baltz, Mrs. Gordon Burhans, Mrs. Leon Clark, Mrs. J. C. LeConey, Mrs. Cora Drake, Mrs. H. T. Decker, Mrs. Duane Forman, Mrs. F. A. Greene, Mrs. W. F. Hill, Mrs. William S. Jackson, Mrs. Donald Leith, Mrs. William Leith, Mrs. Kenneth Lantry, Mrs. John Terwilliger, Mrs. Clarence Mullen, Mrs. Arthur McNell, Mrs. Robert Murray, Mrs. C. S. Rowe, Mrs. Charles Ramsey, Mrs. Walter Cannitz, Mrs. Ward Tongue, Mrs. Clarence Vanaken, Mrs. Ezra McIntosh, Mrs. Robert Lane.

Uncle Sam Plays Spy With His U. S. Farmers

Washington — Peeping Toms are getting up in the world—the Department of Agriculture is equipping them with planes for a game of aerial "I spy" on U. S. farmers.

Contracts totaling $200,700 have been let for aerial photography of 102,800 square miles in 16 states.

They didn't order the pictures just because they wanted a nice portrait of a county for the family album. They wanted to see if Farmer Brown was fudging on his AAA soil conservation contracts.

Some of the farmers took the conservation benefit payment, and then didn't reduce acreage as contracted. But the too-candid aerial camera puts the stopper on that stunt.

Farmer Brown's acres show up in the aerial pictures, and a gadget called a planimeter quickly tells how much land Farmer Brown has planted, how much is lying fallow, and all the other facts.

Aerial photographs of California, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin are scheduled.

Lay down a smoke screen, Hiram, here come the government men.

Czech Soil Favorable For Herb Cultivation

Prague (AP) — Self-sufficiency in every field, coveted goal of the Reich, is being brought one step nearer to realization by intensified cultivation of medicinal plants and herbs.

Bohemia and Moravia have been found by Czech geologists to possess not only the climatic conditions, but also a qualitatively high-grade soil, most favorable for such cultivation.

The Ministry of Agriculture of the Protectorate inaugurated a large program for 1940 to make the first big-scale growing of these herbs a success. Germany will thus be able to annually save several million marks of foreign currency used to import medicinal plants.

Woman Is Injured In City Accident

Mrs. Harold Every of 233 West O'Reilly street, suffered cuts about the head and an injury to her right leg, when the car she was riding in was in collision with a fuel truck driven by Charles G. Ewel of 233 East Chester street, shortly after 7 o'clock Wednesday evening at Clinton and Greenkill avenues.

Mrs. Every was riding with her husband, while Ewel was alone in the truck.

The two machines collided almost head on. Neither Every nor Ewel, reported being injured. Both machines were damaged in the crash.

Women and children refugees are being crushed by modern war machines. Help them through your contribution to the Red Cross War Relief Fund.

No Permission Given

Albany, May 23.—The New York State Labor Department does not at any time authorize persons to solicit advertising for department publications nor sponsor such solicitation for any labor or industrial publication. State Industrial Commissioner Frieda S. Miller warned advertisers of the state today. Frequently inquiries come to the department, the commissioner explained, which indicate that some solicitors may have attempted to give the impression that they sought advertising for state labor department publications or that private publications were sponsored or authorized by the labor department.

Excused

Columbia S. C. (AP)—University of South Carolina officials ruled that the birth of a child was sufficient reason for papa to be excused from attending classes. The ruling came on the short note submitted by Daniel Coley Craft of Columbia—"Wife gave birth to a child at 9:30 o'clock. Please excuse my absences from classes."

Cossack Chorus Will Be Presented By Concert Group

NICHOLAS KOSTUKOFF

One of the outstanding of the winter concerts being planned for Kingston during the coming season is the presentation of the Don Cossack Chorus under the direction of Nicholas Kostukoff. The membership campaign of the Cooperative Concert Association which brings the concerts to Kingston is being held this week.

The chorus has become world famous in the last 14 years since it was founded in Prague by the exiled white Russian army officers. The spirit of old Russia is given by 27 remarkable singers in exotic, thrilling songs, both sacred and secular. The group has made musical history as the greatest singing ensemble of its kind.

The voices are heard in the beautiful liturgical music of the Russian folk song. To these are added the wild Cossack songs and the Caucasian Lesinka and Kozatchok dances, in which the members of the chorus take part.

Mrs. Allan Hanstein, campaign manager for the Cooperative Concert Association, reported today that at the fourth day of the drive, reports in headquarters at the Governor Clinton Hotel show that the seating capacity of the high school will be taken by Saturday, the close of the drive.

Confusion has arisen in the past because people, not realizing that they could not secure memberships after the close of the drive, were disappointed in not being able to attend the concerts as no tickets are sold the evening of a performance or after the close of the drive.

Walter Brown, representative of the Columbia Concert Corporation here aiding the drive this week, and to contract for the artists at the close, stated that it has been the experience of almost every city in the United States under 100,000 population that if the membership is not secured in advance it is almost impossible for a city to continue with the concert presentations.

Mr. Brown continued to say that a conflict in dates with social functions of importance, or unreasonable weather, is enough to keep people away from the auditorium and someone must be called upon to make up the deficit or underwrite the concerts.

This above system of operation during the last 20 years has proved disastrous. It was not until the establishment of the cooperative concert idea that smaller cities were able to present a fine series of attractions every year. The plan guarantees financial stability as the association stays within the limitations of its budget which is determined by the number of memberships secured during the one week of the campaign.

All residents of Kingston and surrounding area are invited to join. It is impossible in a community of this type to contact everyone personally interested in the cultural development of Kingston and, therefore, the concert committee asks anyone desiring a membership to call at the campaign headquarters, the Governor Clinton Hotel, between 10 a. m. and 5 p. m., or telephone 2700.

U. S. Bolsters Navy Defenses

Old Bases Strengthened And New Ones Added On East Coast.

WASHINGTON.—The United States defense policy in the Atlantic and Caribbean aims at eventual but complete independence of the British fleet.

At present plans do not call for the massing of a large fleet in Atlantic waters. The bulk of new fighting ships, building or planned, probably will be based in the Pacific in keeping with traditional naval policy.

Despite desires of naval strategists and considerable affirmative sentiment in congress, the day of the full-fledged "two-ocean fleet" navy is still far off, barring, of course, unforeseen developments. Second only to the first line of resistance which the fleet would offer in the Atlantic, is the defense base construction by the army and navy along the Atlantic coastline and in Puerto Rico and the Canal Zone itself.

Army Air Base.

Preliminary work on a powerful army air base at Chicopee, Mass., has begun. At Quenset, R. I., the navy has been authorized to purchase $1,000,000 worth of land for another air station.

Naval shore establishments, bases and stations already exist at various points along the New England coast, including Portsmouth, N. H.; Boston, Newport, R. I., and the large submarine base at New London, Conn.

From New York city south to Pensacola, Fla., various naval establishments dot the East coast. At Norfolk the navy has authorization to buy an additional $500,000 of land. On the Florida peninsula, an ambitious naval undertaking, involving new expenditures of $22,850,000, is being launched. Of the total sum, $17,000,000 has been allocated for construction of a giant air station at Jacksonville, while the remainder, $5,850,000, is authorized for improvements at Pensacola.

Active in Puerto Rico.

In Puerto Rico there is a virtual beehive of activity as an estimated $1,000,000,000 is being spent to convert the island possession into a Caribbean "Gibraltar" commanding the Atlantic approach to the Panama canal.

To co-ordinate the army's part in the huge job, Puerto Rico has been designated as a separate army department. Transfer of troops to the new department has been going on steadily for some time as barracks, fortifications and airfields come into existence.

At the Panama canal the narrow transcontinental United States land strip on either side of the waterway is bristling with new anti-aircraft guns and batteries, with more to come. As in Puerto Rico, the land forces are being augmented.

Elaborate anti-espionage and anti-sabotage measures have been evolved and paper plans have been drafted to construct "by-pass" locks which would be used to transit ships in the event the regular locks were destroyed or damaged by enemies.

Another point of defense in the Caribbean scheme is the navy's base at Guantanamo, Cuba, which provides a northern listening post.

Knotty Problems

John Hensel and Raoul Graumont of Bridgeport, Conn., are experts when it comes to "knotty problems." Between them they have tied thousands of knots, some of them so intricate they have required days of study and patience to complete. Hensel claims to have duplicated the baffling Gordian knot which was so cleverly made that both ends of the rope were concealed and defied undoing. Both Hensel and Graumont traveled the world to pursue their hobby of rope making and knot tying. In all they have a collection of 3,200, no two of which are alike. According to Hensel there are only 310 orthodox knots, the simplest of which were used almost from the beginning of time.

Appeal for Mercy

Urgent needs of war-stricken civilians throughout Europe have prompted the American Red Cross to issue its first war relief appeal since the World War. A drive is now under way throughout the country to raise a minimum of $10,000,000 to purchase all kinds of relief supplies. The above poster has been selected to carry the appeals to the nation.

Italian Students Burn Allied Flags

Italian students are shown as they carried a coffin, wrapped in French and British flags with an umbrella on top, which they burned May 14 in front of the British embassy in Rome to climax a wave of anti-Allied demonstrations. More recently the Italian press declared that Italy's "pact of steel" with Germany had held British warships in the Mediterranean and French soldiers on the Italian frontier while the Nazi war machine smashed through the low countries into France. There were mounting indications that Italy might soon enter the war.

Building permits issued in 202 municipalities in Canada during the first quarter of 1940 had a total value of $12,442,014.

Every penny you can give will aid some refugee in Europe. Contribute to the American Red Cross War Relief—Today!

Found
Laramie, Wyo. (AP)—Workmen on the University of Wyoming campus, digging excavations for a new building, uncovered three graves of pioneers who were buried more than a half century ago. Then their shovels struck a fourth coffin. Before a dozen more spades of earth were turned a crowd of over 200 was watching. Gently the workmen scraped away the soil from the rotting boards. Suddenly the decrepit lid lifted. Out stepped a masked figure, clad in black coat, heavy boots and brown fur cap. On his back was this sign: "I've waited 50 years for the Varsity Show." Cops unsnarled the traffic jam and learned it was a publicity gag for a show the seniors were staging. The "corpse" had been planted a half hour before the workmen "discovered" it.

Rewards of Persistence

Lawrence, Kans. (AP)—Irving Hill of Lawrence believes there is something to the old one that goes. "If at first you don't succeed—", Hill has been playing a certain golf course for 50 years. The other day he scored his first hole-in-one.

The American Red Cross has appealed to every American to support its campaign for European war relief. It is asking for a minimum of $10,000,000 to be used solely for aid overseas. Your local chapter needs your help. Make your contribution through it today.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or easy passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubing flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Summer Slices Winter's Time

Season Between Frosts Has Grown 2 to 3 Weeks in Last 80 Years.

WASHINGTON.—Winters are becoming shorter and summers longer, according to records kept by the United States weather bureau for the last 80 years.

The "growing season"—the time between the last spring frost and the first fall frost—has increased by from two to three weeks during that period, according to J. B. Kincer, chief of the bureau's climatology division.

In the Middle Atlantic area the "growing season" has increased from an average of 188 days in the 20-year period, ended in 1896, to 206 days for a similar period, ended in 1935, Mr. Kincer said.

The report discloses the astonishing migration northward of the "growing season" since 1860. It has moved 225 miles north. It now is as long in the vicinity of Indianapolis, Ind., as it was in 1857 around Nashville, Tenn.

Crop Movement North.
The "growing season" extends roughly from April to October. On that basis "crop belts" have been designated on the basis of the time required for crops to grow. The cotton belt, the corn belt and the spring wheat belt all have been pushed northward.

It has been possible, for example, to grow cotton 225 miles farther north during the last 20 years than it was in the 20 years between 1860 and 1880. Similarly, other crops requiring a longer, warm, growing season can be grown farther north.

Average weather around Washington for the last decade has been approximately that of extreme southern Virginia 50 years ago. Similarly southern Virginia now has the climate the section more than 150 miles south had in the 1860-1890 decade.

Change Began in 1875.
Crops have not necessarily followed the change in climate. The crops planted are determined in part by traditional planting practices of farmers and the local facilities built up over many years for their processing.

The upward trend in average temperatures began in about 1875. Since 1898 they have been above the 100-year average and have steadily increased. Weather bureau officials declined to "guess" whether the abnormally severe winter just passed may mark the turning point in the trend.

Midnight Critical Time

For Birth and Death

EDINBURGH.—The registrar general for Scotland claims to have debunked the whole belief that the early hours of the morning are the most critical times of births and death, and that midnight is the moment of foreboding.

Taking a cross section of 6,055 deaths, he found that 48.8 per cent took place in the first half of the day and 51.6 per cent in the second half of the day; 50.8 per cent took place between six in the morning and six in the evening, compared with 49.2 per cent between six in the evening and six in the morning, when it generally is supposed that deaths occur more frequently.

Massachusetts to Observe Traditional Thanksgiving

BOSTON.—Massachusetts, where the first Thanksgiving was observed in 1621, will cling to custom in 1940 and celebrate the holiday upon the traditional last Thursday of November. Gov. Leverett Saltonstall, who stuck with the traditional date last year, along with New England's other five Republican governors, despite the fact that President Roosevelt advanced the feast day a week to facilitate Christmas business, has written Alfred Rinali, secretary of the Marlborough, Mass., high school, that he intends to proclaim November 28 as Thanksgiving.

Gas From Anthracite Drives British Motors

LONDON.—The answer to petrol rationing here is a miniature gas works on a trailer drawn at the back of the car, enabling the motorist to drive 100 miles at a cost of about $1.

The fuel produced is anthracite carbon-monoxide. The anthracite is burned in the "works" after a bit of cranking from tow dipped in paraffin.

The car runs smoothly on the gas, but rather less efficiently.

Fossils Show Sea Once Covered Grand Canyon

GRAND CANYON, ARIZ.—Marine fossils have been found in the Grand canyon and on the nearby Painted desert, indicating that an arm of the sea at one time covered this portion of northern Arizona. The Grand canyon and surrounding country are more than 6,000 feet above sea level and more than 500 miles from the nearest body of salt water, the Gulf of Lower California.

Sloops, Killed by Streetcar
SEATTLE.—Stooping to pick up a dollar bill, Mrs. May Woods, 65, was decapitated by a streetcar.

The board of Regents at its meeting March 15th, admitted to the University as accredited secondary schools the Brooklyn Friends School and South Kortright Central School. The latter school replaces two schools which were dropped from the roll of accredited secondary schools the Bloomville High School and Hobart High School.

Murphy Is Given Watch by Firemen

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Saugerties, May 23—Miss Helen Gaylor of the Benedictine Hospital student training class, spent the past week as guest of her parent, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Gaylor on East Bridge street.

Mrs. Henry Snyder of Ulster avenue is a patient at the Benedictine Hospital under the care of Dr. McCaig.

At a special meeting of the Washington Hook and Ladder Co. held in the Exempt Firemen's rooms, it was decided that this company would not enter into the Firemen's Convention parade to be held in Haverstraw, in June. This will be the second time that the Hooks have not attended this affair in the past 25 years.

Roland E. Heermann of Washington avenue has been invited to act as conductor for the Schoharie County Schools Musical Festival, which will take place in the Cobleskill Central school, Saturday, May 25.

Mrs. Adam Ott of Clermont street has been discharged from the Kingston Hospital and is recovering at the home of her sister, Mrs. Alfred Drechsler on Elm street.

A shower was given to Miss Agnes Harris, a member of the high school faculty at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reinhard, on Market street, last Thursday evening. Miss Harris received many useful and valuable gifts from her many friends. Miss Harris will become the bride of William Finger of Main street this place in July.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. Fuller of the State road at the Kingston Hospital. Mrs. Fuller is the former Evaline Fitzgerald.

John Dixon of West Bridge street is driving a new car which he purchased recently.

The Saugerties A. C. baseball team played the opening game of this season Sunday at the Cantine Memorial Field on Upper Washington avenue. The local boys defeated Fitchfield Club by a score of 7 to 6. The locals will play the fast Poughkeepsie State Hospital nine and a special attraction will be on Memorial Day when the local club is expected to meet the Stockbridge, Mass., team on the local field.

Mrs. Eugene McGuire, of Middletown, spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bovee on Partition street.

A modern and square dance will be held in the Centerville Fireman's Hall, Friday evening, May 31, under the auspices of the Centerville Fire Department and the Saugerties Washington Hook and Ladder Company which suffered a severe loss during the recent fire which destroyed their rooms. Music will be furnished by the Royal Rhythm Makers and their motto is "Help the Firemen and they will Help You."

Miss Rowena Snyder, of Poughkeepsie spent the past Sunday as guest of relatives and friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fleming, of Ticonderoga were week-end guests of Mrs. Charles Gippert on Cedar street.

Wounds, fright, and hunger are killing innocent women and children. Your contribution is needed for the American Red Cross War Relief Fund.

by the Saugerties chapter American Red Cross for funds under the chairmanship of Fabian Russell together with assistants, Joseph M. Campbell, John Carnright, Grant Morse, Joseph Frankel, Robert Snyder, John Sauer, Col. Girard McEntee, William Keenan,

George Thornton and Fred Van Voorhis, who will accept contributions for this drive. The Saugerties quota is $600 and with the ever present spirit of giving to those less fortunate which Saugerties has become well known it is expected that the amount asked will be over subscribed.

Nearly 100 people were present at the town of Saugerties Sunday School Association convention held in the Centerville M. E. Church last Friday evening. Prof. Edgar V. Beebe addressed the audience on "Understanding Each Other."

The Rev. Robert Baines, pastor of the church and the Rev. Clayton J. Potter of Mt. Marion, president of this association, also spoke. Many more arrests are being made daily by the Saugerties police for failure to heed the "Full Stop" signs which are stationed throughout 19 intersections in the village. Each offender is fined $2 by Police Justice Bennett and all arrested are members of "The Don't Believe in Signs Club," which already has a large membership. Miss Adelaide Babcock of Ulster avenue is spending a few days visiting in Rochester. Mrs. William Rowe of Partition street is improving from her recent illness. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Fellows of Market street has returned from North Carolina where they visited relatives.

JAMES R. MURPHY

Fire Commissioner James R. Murphy was presented with a gold watch by his fellow members of Cordts Hose Company at the monthly meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association at White Eagle Hall on Delaware avenue on Tuesday evening when the local fire company was host to the county firemen.

The fire commissioner has been a member of Cordts Hose for 17 years, serving the company at various periods as treasurer, foreman and secretary. The watch was presented at a token on the part of his fellow firemen of his recent appointment to the fire board of Kingston.

Martin Schleede, long active in the ranks of Cordts Hose made the presentation.

LYONSVILLE

Lyonville, May 23 — Joseph Burgher and grandmother, Mrs. Davis, were in Ellenville Saturday.

Charley Kroyfelt of New Jersey spent the week-end at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Lyons of Kripplebush called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Davis and family Thursday evening.

Mrs. Ray Davis spent one day the past week in Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. James Davis and family spent Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. Sherman of Ellenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Hyman of Stone Ridge called on Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Oakley Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James Davis and family called on Mrs. Gallo Sunday afternoon.

War Economy, No Doubt Berlin (AP)—Efficient Germans have cut the official greeting "Heil Hitler," down to its bare essentials. Quite a few still say both words strongly. Others have trimmed it simply to "Hitler." But the bulk of casual greetings are simply: "Hilr."

Dances at Avalon

Sara Allen, talented dancer, is presenting her "Dance of the Flame" at The Avalon on Route 28, a few miles outside of Kingston. Miss Allen will make her farewell appearance at The Avalon on Saturday night.

Sugar Beets, Sweet Profits

Prague (P)—The Ministry of Agriculture has ordered farmers in Bohemia and Moravia to increase the beet sugar production this year and in 1941 by 25 per cent. Production figures for the past two years cannot be obtained because of the far-reaching reorganization the country underwent during that period. Bohemia and Moravia, with their vast stretches of fertile farm land, are gradually becoming an important agricultural hinterland for the Reich. Beet sugar is one of the Reich's foreign currency yielders and efforts are being made to boost these exports.

Swiss Make Plans

Fribourg, Switzerland (P)—The Swiss government is pushing forward plans to make the little confederation the communications center of Europe. Government-controlled radio organizations have acquired a large tract of land near the village of Chantonage, where they have begun building a 3-masted short-wave radio transmitting station to communicate with North and South America and Japan.

Contract diamond drilling on Canadian mineral deposits in 1939 totaled 2,063,292 feet, or more than 390 miles. These operations cost $3,013,249, and were conducted in Ontario, Quebec, British Columbia, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and the Northwest Territories.

P. T. A. Dance

A dance, sponsored by the Hurley P. T. A., will be held at the Hurley Schoolhouse Saturday night, May 25, from 9 to 1 o'clock. There will be music for both modern and old-fashioned dances. The public is invited. A small admission fee will be charged.

Townsendites Say Their Votes May Pick Congressman

A claim was made at a meeting of Kingston Townsend Club No. 1 last night that the various Townsend Clubs of the region will be an important factor in the election of a Congressman in this district next fall.

George J. Mutari of Saugerties addressed the group at its meeting in Mechanics' Hall.

It was pointed out at the meeting that because of its large membership, Kingston Townsend Club No. 1, is entitled to send eight delegates to the national convention in St. Louis the first week in July. The club elected the following delegates: Dr. Carr Miller, Miss Mildred F. Niles and George J. Mutari. Additional delegates will probably be selected by the club's advisory council, which is composed of the heads of the ten departments of the club. It holds its meetings once or twice each month.

The Townsend national representative of Eastern New York, Frederick G. Brooks, said recently that Club No. 1 here is the best organized and efficient club in all southeastern New York. It is having calls from various cities for its programs of songs and entertainment. Miss Mildred F. Niles of 222 Elmendorf street is its director. Dr. Carr Miller is president of Club No. 1. Kingston now has three Townsend Clubs and a fourth club will be organized before long.

Broadway to Have Mental Marvel

Starting Saturday May 25 and continuing until Friday May 31 inclusive the management of the Broadway Theatre will feature E. Sylvers, "The Mental Marvel."

Many may remember that two years ago, this same man mystified local audiences with his uncanny revelations.

Since the age of five Mr. Sylvers has used his unusual gift to the advantage of all who come in contact with him, for he has appeared in many theaters all over the United States and Canada leaving all who see and hear him bewildered as he answers their most intimate problems, both from the stage and in private.

Since last appearing at the Broadway Theatre, many large cities where he has appeared have asked for his return for many of his predictions have come true.

The management invites the public to see and hear this most unusual personality matinee and evening, in addition to the regular screen attractions at no advance in prices.

LEIBHARDT

Leibhardt, May 23—Mrs. Preston Hubbard and daughters Cynthia and Natalie, of Greenwich, Conn., are enjoying a week's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Brown.

Mrs. Lena Lyppa and sons, Peter and Alex called on relatives in Cherrytown, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Henderson and daughter Arlene and Mrs. Rose Hornbeck and grand-daughter, Miss Beverly Hornbeck were callers of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Keator and son, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Brown.

Mrs. Phoebe Krom returned home Friday after spending some time with relatives in Ellenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Crawford and grandson of Walden were Sunday afternoon callers of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Quick and sons.

Asa Hornbeck will resume his usual duties at Lake Mohonk, Friday for the coming season.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paley of Glenford were callers of Mrs. Phoebe Krom, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Benjamin Pollock and daughters Barbara spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Irving Tobak of Mombaccus.

Herman Quick, Sr. was tendered a birthday surprise at his home last Friday evening, May 17. A most enjoyable evening was spent at cards and pinocle. Refreshments of home made ice cream and cake were served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Booth and daughters, Mrs. Scott Sahler and children of Pataukunk, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Freer and daughters of Cherrytown, and Mr. and Mrs. Gus Lindgren of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fuller of Kerhonkson called at the home of Mrs. J. Hornbeck, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Quick accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Gus Lindgren spent Friday in Kingston.

Mrs. Harrison Brown has returned home after being with her mother, Mrs. Percy Booth of Kerhonkson who has been very ill with pneumonia. It is gratifying news to know she is improving in health.

Miss Rosemary Hoff of Napanoch spent the week-end with her grandmother, Mrs. J. Hornbeck and uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hornbeck.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shelden of Valhalla were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Brown.

Misses Edna and Erma Hornbeck spent the week-end with their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Terwilliger of Newburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hornbeck called on Neal Van Wagenen and sister, Miss Etta, also on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gray of Tabasco, Sunday.

Women and children refugees are being crushed by modern war machines. Help them through your contribution to the Red Cross War Relief Fund.

How Armies Compare

(AP) Feature Service

The relative sizes of the armies battling for supremacy in Europe are shown in this pictograph. The figures, from best available American sources, are as of January 1, 1940. Since then, more of the reserves have become part of the active armies. . . . Because Germany has had universal military training for less than a decade, military observers believe her trained reserves are inferior to those of France. Italy is not a belligerent, but she is allied with Germany. So France, instead of massing all her forces against Germany, must keep some near the Italian frontier. . . . The Netherlands' forces totalled 650,000 before she was invaded.

Asparagus Was Once a Luxury

Ithaca, N. Y., May 23.—Once a rare delicacy favored by royalty since the days of Emperor Augustus Caesar, asparagus today is out of the luxury class and available to all.

With locally-grown asparagus on the market, one of the season's favorite vegetables may be had at reasonable prices, says the New York state college of home economics. It has a flavor all its own and is generally liked by all who give it a trial. The edible-crop harvest starts early in the season at a time when no other vegetables are available in the garden.

When buying asparagus the college says to remember it is a perishable product and that it is not wise to buy it in too large quantities or very long before use. If asparagus must be kept for a day or overnight, the bunch should be untied, the tough ends trimmed off, the asparagus rinsed well in water and dried. Then wrap it in wax paper and place in the refrigerator. Asparagus should never be put away wet as it decays easily.

Tips on Quality

Unbroken tips and fresh tender stalks indicate good asparagus, the college says. The stalks should not droop, but should stand straight and be brittle at the cut end.

To prepare asparagus for cooking, remove the tough portions by snapping or cutting off the lower part of the stalks. Cut off the heavy scales. Wash the asparagus well and tie it in bunches or cut it into pieces, it is recommended.

The college specialists point out that green vegetables retain their color when they are cooked uncovered in a fairly large amount of water. If the vegetable is cut into small pieces so that the cooking time is short, however, the color can be held even though the cooking pan is covered.

The method chosen for asparagus depends on whether it is preferred whole or in pieces. If served whole, it is a good idea to stand the bunches for individual servings on end, let them cook awhile, and then lay the bunches on their sides to finish cooking. In this way the tougher stalks will be well cooked without over-cooking the tender tips.

If the asparagus is cut into small pieces, the same results can be had by cooking the stalks for a time before the tips are added it is pointed out.

As for uses, asparagus lends itself to many dishes and menus. It is generally served with butter sauce, cream sauce, or Hollandaise, whole on toast, or diced in the sauce. It is good when eaten cold, placed on a bed of lettuce leaves with French dressing. Cream of asparagus soup is widely relished, and for something different asparagus fritters are recommended.

Poultry Scientists At Cornell in June

Ithaca, N. Y., May 23.—Plans are going ahead for the 32nd annual meeting of the Poultry Science Association at Cornell University, June 26, 27, 28, and 29. Some 400 members are expected.

Organized in Ithaca in 1908, the association which meets on some University campus each year, last had a convention at Cornell University in 1918. In 1938 gathering was at Pullman, Washington, and last year at the World's Poultry Congress in Cleveland, Ohio.

The group, which is affiliated with the World's Poultry Science Association, is an organization of instructors, investigators, and extension workers in poultry husbandry in the United States and Canada. Its object is to advance the poultry industry both in this country and in Canada.

At the banquet on Friday evening, June 28, the association will award a $100 prize for the best individual research of the year. In 1929 the winner was Dr. F. B. Hutt, present head of the Cornell poultry department. An honorable mention goes to the second place winner.

An award of $1000 by the Borden company will also be made that evening to the poultry scientist judged to have done the most in poultry advancement the past year. The first award, in 1938, went to Dr. L. C. Norris of the Cornell University Agricultural Experiment Station.

Present officials of the Poultry Science Association are, president, L. W. Taylor of the University of California; first vice-president, H. L. Kempster of the University of Missouri; second vice-president, D. C. Warren of Kansas State College; and secretary-treasurer, W. A. Maw of MacDonald College, Quebec, Canada.

The following at Cornell are in charge of committees planning for the event: accommodations, Professor C. C. Norris; program, Dr. F. B. Hutt; registration, Professor G. O. Hall; banquet and entertainment, Professor L. M. Hurd; information, E. Y. Smith; ladies' program, Mrs. F. B. Hutt; and dedication of the poultry building, Professor G. F. Heuser.

Passes Bar Exam

John Herrick Schoonmaker, of Stone Ridge, who has been connected with the law offices of Cashin & Ewig for some time, was among the successful candidates who took the New York State Bar examination in March. Only one other local law student is listed among the 398 out of 1037 who took the examination, he being Norman Keller of Ellenville.

BRING ON THE FRANKS A GOOD OLD AMERICAN DISH!

Roast 'em, Broil 'em, Boil 'em, serve 'em with mustard, relish, pickles or slaw, or eat them cold. If you serve Forst's Tendafranks you can hang out the latching and satisfy the most persnickiest appetites that come your way. Forst's Tendafranks are frankfurts in the good old American Way; made of selected quality meats cooked and smoked over Southern hickory embers by the Forst family, who have prepared quality meats for more than seventy years. Fill up the ladder with Tendafranks today.

Look for FORST'S on the frank

Roll Forst Tendafranks in slices of Tendafrank Bacon; broil a few minutes; then admit you've discovered a two-flavored delicacy.

HIGH TIDE

YESTERDAY: Unknown to Jan, Johnny Benton decides that she will be his wife. Derek accepts the fishing barge job although he declares that work is a nuisance.

Chapter 10

Painting Critic

DEREK'S mother had kept him just long enough to extract a substantial settlement from Gregory Knowles, then shipped him back to Eden, a boy disillusioned, embittered from seeing things he could not have seen; a sensitive lad, too introspective, turning with all the zealous starved fervor of his emotional nature to music.

At eighteen his father took him to New York to live with his step-mother, a charming, quiet woman who was good to him. Trouble came. Loyal to his stepmother, hating violently his father's new-found love, a sleek young actress, he stayed on with the second Mrs. Knowles until, inadvertently, he learned that she, too, was using him as a pawn.

At nineteen he demanded to go abroad to study, his accusing, violent dark eyes meeting his father's. He was sent to a boarding school, to fumbling words of attempted explanation and reconciliation, took his letter of credit and sailed alone.

But he could not escape being Derek Knowles, heir to a huge fortune, rich in his own right, at twenty-one, from a legacy of his paternal grandmother. He was never. He was the son of Gregory Knowles, financier, capitalist. Girls clutched at him, fawned over him, pursued him.

At twenty-one he was a cynic about women. Until he met Lenore Page.

"Nuts!" said Derek, sitting up on the sand. "Jan's right. It's a lot of fun to feel sorry for yourself."

About now, he thought, his father would be hearing from his lawyers that his son and only heir was well on his way to China.

"Might as well be," Derek reflected. "I'll never run into anyone I know down here. I'm safe enough. Safe from Lenore and Lea and all their kind. I like it. I'm going to stay."

He chuckled to himself over the fact of Jan hunting him a job. He'd never worked for anyone in his life, except his music professors; never earned a penny of his own. It would be novel, at least. Certainly, today, he was in no mood to cast himself into the water. He wondered if a great deal of money would spoil Jan. His smile soured. He had no wish to find out. She tolerated him; pitied him, probably; would in all likelihood try to manage him as she did Lance and her house; but he had no intention of letting her know who he was or how rich he was. He'd try to earn enough money to pay for his food and the rest of the time, well, the hot sun was pleasant. Tomorrow? It never comes.

When Jan heard the door lifted she knew it was Derek. No one else would venture up here to disturb her solitude. She didn't want him here; didn't want him to see the quite lovely sweep of beach and sky she had just sketched and painted with water colors. Yet she sensed his coming here was somehow inevitable.

"I've come to bare your soul," he announced, striding toward her, a grin on his arrogant face. "You owe it to me after yesterday. I should have left that piano alone. I knew better, but—let me see your canvases."

Tender Kiss
BECAUSE the day was really warm, she had come up here in brief shorts and sun halter. As she knelt down to take a half-dozen carefully-wrapped pictures from the locker she felt Derek's eyes on her.

"You have a lovely figure," he commented casually. "Not an ounce of fat on you."

"It must be the Melba Toast and grapefruit diet, or maybe the rowing machine in the attic which I never use."

"After all, what is an attic without a rowing machine? And family skeletons?"

"No skeletons," she assured him. "At least, not Merriker skeletons. Not yet, anyhow."

"Then there's no hope for you. You can't be glamorous without a skeleton or two to rattle. Here, let me help you with those canvases."

Unwrapping one painting at a time, she handed it over for his inspection. He held it up in varied lights and squinted critically. She tried to read his reaction from his expression and could not. Fear mounted in her; the certain fear that he would confirm her own opinion.

"Jan," he said, when the last picture was back in its wrappings, "think you're on the wrong track. You have ability, all right, and an eye for line and color, but I—well, bluntly—I don't think marines are your proper métier."

"But the sea is the only thing I want to paint!" she insisted, tears edging her voice. "Fruit, flowers, trees, houses—no!"

"What about people?"

"I never tried. Always," her voice mounted, "always the sea! It's practically an obsession. I suppose I should hate that vast murderous expanse of brine because it took my father and mother from me, but I don't."

"Then," he advised after a silence, "do nothing for a time. Let your creative ground lie fallow awhile and let other impressions crystallize. If you have genius, and you may have it lying latent, undeveloped, it's for something else perhaps. Jan! What is..."

For she was weeping, the hot tears pushing through her lashes. Contemplation filled him. She was so fragile-looking, she looked like a hurt child crying out heartbreak and disappointment. "I-I know I'm not a genius," she stammered. "I've tried and tried and sometimes I thought I did it—but I didn't have it. It eludes me, like wind. Wanting to do a thing isn't—doing it."

"Don't I know?" he asked softly. "I guess we're just a couple of frustrated artists, Jan, and misery loves company." He put his arm around her shoulders in a gesture of sympathy and camaraderie. Her hair, fragrant and clean and unperfumed, blew against his chin. Then something, call it an emotional spark, sprang from nowhere to ignite both of them. Trembling, she turned to face him. His arm tightened, caught her close against his hard chest; his lips brushed the tear-drops from her lashes, then found her lips and held them in a kiss very tender, very warm. He felt her mouth soft and quivering and unanswering. Unconsciously it piqued him. Again he kissed her, lips importunate. Her arms went up and around his neck and, caught by a sudden rapturous emotion, she returned his kiss. A moment he held her, then let her go, rudely, abruptly.

'Rather Melodramatic'
THROUGH tears, she saw the dark scowl on his face.

"No use making us both more miserable!" he grated. "Damn it, Jan, I'm sorry this happened. I liked the basis we were on. I can't give you love, romance, marriage, and you're the sort who'd expect them. I can't give anybody anything, least of all myself. I wish you'd forget I kissed you."

She shoved her hair back of her ears and managed a very small ghost of a smile. "I have a poor ghost," she said. "A gust of anger swept by. 'Aren't you a little rather silly, Derek? Rather melodramatic?' I didn't inquire whether your intentions were honorable or not, you—egoist! Don't you think I've been kissed before?" The shrill sound of her voice irritated her ears. "It was just one of those things that happen sometimes. You were sorry for me—I was sorry for you—oh, Derek, for goodness' sake, stop scowling and leave me alone!"

At the edge of the trap door he paused to look back at her queerly, uncertainly. Then from below Lance called.

When Lance called, Jan went. At once, without fuss. If she didn't fretted herself into sick feverishness.

Jan dabbed at her eyes with her hands before she opened his door. She saw at once what had prompted his call. The clipper ship, in the process of being varnished, had slipped from his hands to the floor and one of the wings had crumpled. Lance was staring at it, white-faced, as if it were a world-shaking calamity, but Jan knew he wasn't seeing the tiny ship at all; he was living again over the times he'd piloted great planes on test flights and bailed out more than once when a wing gave way. She went down on her knees to pick up the tiny model plane. Momentarily she forgot the scene on the roof. As she laid the plane on Lance's lap she looked into his drawn face. At first he seemed not to see her at all, then his eyes focused and he demanded:

"What happened between you and Derek, Jan? I heard him go up on the roof. You've been crying. What did he say to you? What did he do?"

Telltale scarlet rushed up her throat and flamed in her cheeks. "Nothing, Lance."

"Don't lie to me, Jan! Did he hurt you in some way? Did he answer me?"

"He only agreed with me that my painting is no good," she confessed wearily. "And then I went feminine and—and cried. That's all."

His strange, beautiful eyes bored into her. "That's all you intend to tell me, at least," he amended. "Jan, are you falling in love with the man? Are you?"

"Of course not, silly."

"You never were a good prevaricator," he frowned. "You don't know who he is. Nothing about him. An honest man is not so reticent about himself. Jan, I won't see you hurt. Tell him to go. Tell him to leave our house. Right now. If you don't tell him, I will. I mean it, Jan."

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

Under The Same Blue Sky
This quiet house of ours, this peaceful street,
The sunlight on my window, and the heat
Of furnace fire, the sound of friendly feet,
And children's laughter—Life, serene and sweet.

But over there the turmoil and the pain,
And ravished faith that cannot live again!
Our breakfast coffee bubbling in the pot,
Our toast and bacon odororous and hot.

Our little cat that comes and asks for bread—
I laugh and give: God's creatures must be fed.
Yet over there—oh, God, one wonders why
So many men lie dead beneath Thy sky!

Teacher—Junior, why do we call English our mother tongue?
Junior—Because mother uses it more than father.

The most disillusioned man in the world is the candidate for office who really believes that more than 30 per cent of the people who tell him they will vote for him will really do so.

Friend—That new druggist certainly believes in the slogan, "Say it with flowers."

Man—Why?
Friend—Well, he sent me a bunch of forget-me-nots with my bill last week.

Helpfulness

The need of present-day America is to consider the faith, the dreams, the hopes, the fears of our common people.... These are the life blood of our democracy.... While we must give direct aid to some extent, our biggest job is to help them who help themselves.

Mother—Junior, I wish you'd learn better table manners. You're a regular little pig at the table.
Father (after a long, deep silence, wishing to further impress him)—Do you know what a pig is, Junior?
Junior—Yes, sir, it's a hog's little boy.

The Masters

You have taught me laughter, joyousness and light.
How the day is rosy-wild, star-enthralled the night.
Maybe God can teach me after you are gone
How to bear the blackened night and the dreadful dawn.

It is too bad for the men that their wives won't believe their stories as easily as their mothers will.

We never did wear evening clothes and never will, for the reason that we have no evening clothes and never will have. If those who wear them knew how uncomfortable they look, they wouldn't wear them, either.

Mr. Smith—Your wife used to be so nervous, now she doesn't seem to show a sign of it. What did you do for her?
Mr. Brown—That was easy, the doctor simply told her nervousness was a sign of age.

Doctor (to his daughter)—Did you tell the young man that I think he is no good?
Daughter—Yes, Dad, but that didn't faze him. He said it wasn't the first wrong diagnosis you made.

One trouble nowadays is that so many of us do not put solid foundations under our air castles. That's why they topple.

He should have known before: She—Now that we're engaged, dear, you'll give me a ring, won't you?
He—Yes, certainly, darling. What's your number?

Mrs. Gossip—So your daughter is about to marry. Do you really feel she is ready for the battle of life?
Mrs. Chatter—She should be. She's been in four engagements already.

Murray Takes Case For Consideration; Stipulates Times

At the conclusion of plaintiff's case Wednesday afternoon the action brought by Randolph H. Winston against the Saugerties Farms, Inc., and Elliott and Anna Smoak, was taken from the jury by Justice Murray and the jurors who heard the testimony were dismissed. The court reserved decision on motions made by defendant for a dismissal of the complaint.

The case terminated at the conclusion of the plaintiff's case and the defense offered no testimony, relying on the testimony and cross examination of plaintiff's witnesses and on motions for dismissal.

Justice Murray reserved decision on the motions and allowed 20 days' time after the record is transcribed to file briefs and five additional days for replying. The defendant moved for a non-suit on the evidence as submitted by plaintiff.

Winston sued for cancellation of stock issued by the corporation to Mr. and Mrs. Smoak and for its return to the corporation on the grounds of alleged fraud and on the theory that the stock had been transferred to them without any consideration and contrary to the stock corporation law.

Charles de la Vergne and Francis Martucci appeared for the plaintiff and Paul Fromer, Lester Smith and George F. Kaufman for the defendant.

HOME BUREAU

Homemakers May Win Prizes
"Thinking" homemakers, who have big ideas and ideals, and who know how to apply them in their everyday work, are offered an opportunity to share them with others and at the same time capitalize on the exchange at the coming Ulster County Fair and Field Day.

The homemaking department is offering first, second and third prizes of $10, $5 and $3 respectively for ideas which contribute to better homemaking. The idea must be illustrated in some way, by charts, illustrations or otherwise. Entries in this new class must be made by August 12.

Exhibits may take the form of homemade games or toys; kitchen gadgets, a week's menu showing saving of time, fuel and money; a plan of daily work for an average month of the year; a week's winter menu showing best use of home-produced, home-preserved foods; play materials for the convalescent child or any other idea that has been found practicable.

Exhibition was for Artists of Woodstock

May 22, 1940

To the Editor of The Kingston Daily Freeman
Dear Sir:

In reply to Mrs. S. Jerry Chomides letter from Kingston, dated May 13, I can only say that the general committee of the Hudson Valley Apple Blossom Festival asked me to arrange, as a side attraction to the festival, an exhibition of works of art by Woodstock artists in the Woodstock art gallery. There was never any mention of the Hudson valley as a whole, or Kingston, taking part in the exhibition.

Even a limited exhibition, like the one just closed, costs time and money to arrange, and as there was no contribution from the general festival committee for such expenses, they had to be borne by myself and a few good friends.

If Mrs. Chomides, or the Hudson valley feels that their dignity requires it, there is no reason why they should not have a Hudson valley exhibition of art at the next festival. They might even ask Vassar College in Dutchess county to sponsor such an exhibition, and if the college assumed the responsibility, I am sure that it would be a most dignified and worthwhile exhibition.

I am sorry that Mrs. Chomides feels slighted, such was not my intention certainly. But in a long life I have learned with some sadness that you can please some of the people some of the time, but you cannot please all people all of the time.

Sincerely,
CARL ERIC LINDIN.

One enumerator hitched a trailer behind his car and took a horse along. When the car bogged down, the census man galloped over the hills counting noses. Another census agent got lost for a day and froze his face.

The following pupils will be seen in an exhibition of toe, tap, acrobatic, character and ballet dancing: Ace Danahy, Moire Newman, Joan Simmons, Joan Smith, Janis Linzey, Marilyn Gadd, Barbara Ann Nichols, Patsy Andretta, Joyce Hoban, Josephine Ambrose, Ronald Rodden, Patricia Ann Fisk, Betty Ann Thomas, Helen Ward, Gloria Ahlers, Joan Gunther, Marjorie Leonard, Eleanor Beesmer, June Vesce, Brooks Vogt, Sally Saunders, Louise Schwark, Sally Ann Sherman, Jackie Quigley, Mary Ann Hill, Carol Dawkins, Patricia Knight, Rita Amato, Jean Henderson, Lawrence Murphy, Carol Murphy, Starr Anderson, Janet Styles, Shirley Hankinson, Muriel Castillo, Joan Grunewald, Elizabeth Dwyer, Patsy Zaccchio, Dorothy Shelley, Corinne Shader, Mary Rose Dempsey, Anne Tierney, Mary Tierney, Audrey Burge, Blossom Barnett, Sally Oaks, Ruth Senor, Virginia Richter, Shirley Beers, Arlene Murphy, Charlotte Havin, Charlotte Norton, Jimmy Roe, Bernard Feeney and James Dwyer.

Tentative programs for the coming year were presented and discussed by the program chairman, Mrs. Rignall, who also announced that those members having charge of a program are to have them completed for the program committee by September 15. Detailed programs will be printed again this coming year.

Mrs. Downer, new president of the society, announced the appointment of Mrs. Henry F. Dunbar, Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw and Mrs. Henry Millonig, Jr., to formulate plans for a junior group of the society.

Reports of the annual convention of the New York State Federation of Music Clubs held in New York city May 16, 17, 18 and 19 were given by Mrs. Downer and Mrs. Rignall. In this report it was made known to the members that Mrs. Henry F. Dunbar of the Kingston Musical Society had been elected to the state board of directors.

As "American Music" had been the theme of the convention and as membership clubs had been requested to devote some time to the study of "American Music" during the coming year, the special meeting closed with the group singing of "America" with Mrs. Rignall at the piano. A social hour followed with Mrs. Bertrand B. Bishop and Mrs. Warren Ingalsbe, members of the social committee, as hostesses.

Popcorn Square Is Rich Crochet

PATTERN 6599

HOUSEHOLD ARTS

by ALICE BROOKS

PATTERN 6599

Every housewife visualizes her home enriched by the accessories that make it distinctive. The wise needlewoman knows that her crochet hook and mercerized cotton can give her these at little cost.

For her bedroom, there is this choice design in the popcorn stitch as popular today as in colonial times. Its raised effect not only lends contrast but also accents the outstanding parts of the design. The mesh background keeps the spread from being heavy.

This lovely spread can be made by bit—a square, at a time. Before you know it, you'll have enough to cover your bed! The square is excellent pick-up work for those odd moments that would otherwise be frittered away. Pattern 6599 contains instructions for making square; illustrations of it and stitches; materials; photograph of square.

To obtain this pattern send ten cents in coin to the Kingston Daily Freeman, Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

DAILY MENUS

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Tongue A Delicacy
Menu For Dinner
Boiled Beef Tongue
Horseradish Sauce
Creamed Onions
Mashed Squash
Bread
Grape Jelly
Fruit Salad
Sponge Cake with Boiled Custard Coffee

Boiled Beef Tongue
1 smoked or corned tongue
6 whole cloves
2 onion slices
4 celery leaves
1 bay leaf
Cold water to cover
1 tablespoon vinegar

Soak tongue for several hours in water to cover. Drain and place in a kettle of cold water. Add other ingredients. Cover, slowly bring to a boil. Simmer three hours. Uncover and let the tongue cool in the water, then peel off the outer skin and discard the membranes.

Serve the tongue, reheated or chilled.

Horseradish Sauce
3 tablespoons fat
3 tablespoons flour
1/3 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon celery salt
1 cup water
2 tablespoons horseradish

Melt fat in a small pan, add flour and cook slowly until it browns well. Add other ingredients and simmer five minutes. Serve hot.

Boiled Custard
4 egg yolks
1 tablespoon flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
1/4 lemon extract (optional)

Beat yolks, add flour, salt and sugar. Pour in milk and cook in a double boiler until the sauce thickens slightly. Be careful not to over cook. Remove the custard from the heat and beat well. Add other ingredients. Chill and serve.

GIRLS WITH LIMITED WARDROBES THINK DEAN'S DRESS RULING HARSH

Wanting Them to Dress for Dinner is Correct, Says Emily Post, But Circumstances Affect Situation

To take issue with a dean on behalf of her pupils is something that I would scarcely feel it right to do under most circumstances. At the present moment, however—even though I do not deny that the dean is right in principle—I think the students are right in the one particular protest they are making against the situation described by one of them in a letter from an eastern college:

"Not one of the girls has more money than it takes to get through the year. In fact, many of us are having to earn a little extra to help with the expenses by tutoring, or typing, or waiting on table. During the day we go around in a collection of sweaters and old skirts, and wear oxfords and anklets. Before dinner we all change to our better skirts and best sweaters or blouses and wear stockings and pumps. Our dean thinks that we should wear dresses every evening at dinner."

"Frankly, I think she is unreasonable finicky—not because it is not a good idea to dress for dinner but because it is unreasonable to overlook the fact that few of us have many dresses, and most of us have so few that it is absolutely necessary to keep those few for week-ends, for church and Sunday dinner. Several of the girls have only one evening dress and one nice church dress. Do you think our dressing habits so objectionable under the circumstances?"

If you had plenty of clothes, then the dean would certainly be right in practise as well as principle. As it is, it must be that she has not been made aware of the scantiness of your wardrobe. If this were pointed out to her, I feel sure that she would willingly agree that the discipline of making meal preparation for the evening meal is of essential importance. The type of dress you wear adjustable to circumstance.

Printed Dresses for Bridesmaids
Dear Mrs. Post: My two bridesmaids would like to wear light summer print dresses, because they could put them to greatest use after the wedding day. Of course I don't want to make them get useless clothes. But I do think the printed material is less effective, and I can't see how they can carry flowers with it. Have you any suggestions that would help?

Answer: I agree with you that print dresses would be suitable only if your dress is to be unusually simple. On the other hand, the right print on a light-colored ground might be attractive as well as novel. Real bouquets would seem to me, be rather out of key. I should prefer corsage bouquets of solid color—sweet peas perhaps—and hats of this same color.

Presents for Bridesmaids
Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary for the bride to give her bridesmaids presents?

Answer: Yes; at least she always does. These presents need not be expensive; they are always something personal and usually something the attendants wear or carry at the wedding.

Kingston Girl Genesee Apple Blossom Queen

The above picture taken of Miss Doris Hamma of Kingston, a student at the New York State School for the Blind at Batavia, apple blossom queen of Genesee county, with Mayor Heiselman on the school grounds, the scene of the coronation of the Western New York Apple Blossom Festival, Batavia, Saturday, May 18. The picture was taken by Stan Lewis, 201 Ross street, Batavia, and sent to Kingston.

Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman and Albert Kurdt, manager of the Ulster county Farm Bureau, last Saturday attended the eighth annual Western New York Apple Blossom Festival in Batavia, which was attended by thousands of people. Mayor Heiselman, Admiral Reginald R. Belknap, U. S. Navy, retired, and Senator Joe Hanley, president pro tem of the New York state Senate, were the honored guests of the festival. The mayor made three addresses, one over the radio at the reception to the county queens in the Batavia High School, one at the luncheon to distinguished guests in the Hotel Richmond, and one to the huge crowd that was present at the coronation ceremonies in State School Park. The mayor also presented the queen of queens to the audience, administered to her the queen's oath, and presented her to Admiral Belknap, who took the crown from the fair head of the 1939 queen, Miss Virginia Bevin, of Irondequoit, Monroe county, and placed it on the head of the 1940 queen, Miss Doris Falke, of Romulus, Seneca county.

Ten counties in the western part of the state participated in the festival, and there were 10 county queens from whom the Western New York Queen was selected. The parade took over an hour to pass a given point and contained 36 high school bands.

An interesting part of the festival was that a Kingston girl was one of the county queens. Miss Doris Hamma, daughter of Mrs. James W. Glennon, of 26 Wilbur avenue, a pupil in the state school for the Blind at Batavia, was the Genesee county queen, and, according to Mayor Heiselman, was the most beautiful of all the county queens.

The mayor and Mr. Kurdt investigated and witnessed some of the various features of the western New York apple blossom festival and will transmit their findings to the Hudson valley committee as to how to make next year's Hudson Valley Apple Blossom Festival bigger and better.

SOUTH RONDOUT

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, May 23—The Rev. Gerret Wulschlegler of the Reformed Church attended the annual meeting of the Board of Foreign Missions of which he is a member in New York city on Tuesday.

The Youths' Fellowship of the Reformed Church met 5 o'clock Sunday evening at the farm of Arthur Kurtz for an outdoor meeting. Each member brought their lunch and enjoyed eating together. Ethel Mae Tamney was the leader of the meeting.

The Reformed church has received as a memorial from Mrs. Harold B. Allen a beautiful grandfather clock in memory of her husband's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Frank H. Allen, who lived in New Paltz a number of years. The clock now stands in the Century Memorial room and as soon as data is collected more information will be given and a suitable plate engraved and placed on the clock, it is a splendid piece and keeps perfect time.

At the Reformed Theological Seminary this past week the carillon from the Netherlands building at the World's Fair was dedicated. A gift to the seminary it is hung in the tower of Hertog Hall, but with the playing of the bells came the sad news of the fall of the Netherlands.

George Smith and Edward Gulnac motored to Malden-on-Hudson Thursday evening and called on Miss Blanche Gulnac.

Edward Gulnac and daughter Kathryn of Marlborough called on Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Cramb of Grove street has returned from St. Luke's Hospital. Mrs. Bryn Deyo is spending a few days with Mrs. W. Richardson in Poughkeepsie.

Miss Jane McHugh is spending this week with relatives in Marlborough.

Miss Muriel Ingraham has returned from the Kingston City Hospital.

The American Legion and Auxiliary Poppy Day sale will be held in New Paltz Saturday, May 25.

Mrs. Harry Gerow visited Newburgh Friday afternoon. Mrs. Abram D. Wager and Mrs. Freston Paltridge of Modena accompanied her.

Mr. and Mrs. Elting Harp, Jr., and Mrs. Walter Birmingham of New Rochelle were week-end guests of relatives in town.

Miss Sara E. Deyo and Miss Eliza Marx have returned from spending a few days in New York.

Daniel A. Shaw has purchased the Allen property on Wurts avenue from Mrs. Harold Allen.

Ralph H. Johnson of New Paltz was a guest and master of ceremonies at ladies' night held by Adonai Lodge F. and A. M. in Masonic Hall, Highland, on Monday night.

Mrs. Elting Harp was a dinner guest of Mrs. Delia Dingee on Wednesday.

Mrs. Emma Mason is spending some time with her son and family in Ellenville.

Miss Lois Shurter spent the week-end at her home in Phoenix.

Case Is Transferred

An action arising out of a dispute as to boundary lines of property on Clarendon avenue brought by Paul Csicsies and another against James F. Loughran, which has been pending in Supreme Court for some time, was on Wednesday referred to Justice Cochran of Columbia county to hear. The transfer was made by Justice Murray holding the present term of Supreme Court here.

Brought on the theory of malpractice it involves the location of the boundary lines between properties. Joseph Avis appears for plaintiff and Harry H. Flemming for the defendant. The case has appeared on the day calendar.

Respectfully submitted, Henry O. Houst, Marion Bulard, L. G. Stowell, Carl Eric Lindin, Albert Graeser, Warren Huty, Harvey Barnes, G. C. Layman, R. W. Stoutenburg, W. S. Elwyn, Albert M. 'Plane Trade Borrows Idea From the Kitchen

Baltimore, Md., (AP)—An idea borrowed from the kitchen is reducing the cost of building airplanes.

It's a "double-boiler" to melt zinc with greater purity, and lengthen the life of pots in which zinc is melted. Zinc is used in making dies to form metal airplane parts. The Glenn L. Martin Company announced the new development.

Formerly, zinc was melted in pots placed directly over the fire. But heat concentrated at certain points, and the zinc took on impurities from the melting of the pot itself. The costly pots quickly eroded or "burned out."

Lead—not water as in the kitchen—is used in the bottom part of the new double-boiler. The smaller pot containing the zinc is placed inside the pot of molten lead, which distributes heat evenly.

Research men say there is no tendency for the metal pot to alloy with the zinc. The "cooked" zinc is purer, thus making better dies, and they believe the inner pot will last indefinitely. Also cheaper steel can now be used to make the zinc-melting pot.

Shoes Too Much

Mount Vernon, Wash. (AP)—Late for work, Bernis Yenter decided he would dress while driving to his office. He got his shirt and socks on successfully but when he tried to pull on his shoes he lost control of the car. It ran into a field, overturned and was demolished. Yenter, unhurt, promised state patrolmen he "wouldn't use a car for a dressing room again."

Murray Denies Motion on Verdict

Wednesday Justice William H. Murray denied the motion to set aside the $15,000 verdict which was returned in the $100,000 action brought by the administrator of the estate of Anthony Fanizzi against the Milton Fire District. The action tried at the current term of Supreme Court resulted in the jury bringing in the $15,000 verdict for the plaintiff and at that time counsel for the defense moved to set aside the verdict. Justice Murray reserved decision on the matter but on Wednesday announced that he would deny the application.

Fanizzi was killed when the Milton fire truck crashed on June 18, 1939, between Milton and Marlborough. Clarence Alsford was also fatally injured and others injured including Chief Frederick J.

F.D.R. to Give Defense Talk

willings for the United States to participate in economic reconstruction of the post-war world. The White House reported Mr. Roosevelt's freestyle chat would be a "general discussion of the defense situation and defense needs."

Approval Is Rushed

Washington, May 23 (AP)—The Senate, today to duplicate its double quick action on army funds, rushed approval today for the navy's share of the record-making $3,297,011,352 peacetime defense program.

The $1,473,756,728 navy bill was called up for debate, and leaders predicted a speedy decision, perhaps rivaling the five-hour drive which swept the $1,823,254,624 army measure through yesterday by a 74-to-0 vote.

The tenor of Senate feeling was indicated by Chairman Pittman (D., Nev.) of the foreign relations committee after the army bill was passed.

"That's notice to the world," he said, "that we will be able to finish anything they start."

With approval of the navy bill unquestioned, the nation's armed forces headed today an unparalleled expansion of air strength—the most emphasized feature of the preparedness campaign.

Analysis of the $3,297,011,352 defense legislation showed that about one-fourth of the money will go to start the army and navy toward the $6,000-plane goal envisioned by President Roosevelt.

Carries Aviation Section

The army bill as approved by the Senate carried $454,000,000 for aviation purposes. This amount included appropriations and authorizations not only for planes, but also for airmen and aircraft detection equipment.

In the navy bill, $326,000,000 in cash and contract authority has been earmarked for the air defense, with planes, bases and special help to manufacturers heading the list.

There was likelihood of even greater aviation spending by the navy. The Senate naval committee opened hearings today on a proposal to boost the fleet's "paper" air strength to an immediate level of 10,000 planes and to provide 16,000 pilots to fly them. Authorization would be included for a start of work on 20 naval air bases, to cost $124,132,000. Similar legislation in House committee approval yesterday.

Special Appropriations

The Senate-approved army bill contained not only the regular war department requests, but also the special appropriations asked by President Roosevelt in his defense message a week ago. The Senate also added some money over and above these emergency recommendations.

This bill now goes back to the House for concurrence. It had passed the measure prior to the President's message, but must agree to the new funds. A similar situation exists with the navy bill. Although the latter momentarily held the spotlight, a multiplicity of other defense considerations continued to monopolize the capital's attention. Among them were:

Today's meeting of industrialists and financiers with the commerce department's business advisory council to discuss mobilization of economic resources. White House intimations that President Roosevelt was considering enlisting "dollar-a-year-men" in government service, very much as in World War days, to accelerate preparedness. Indications that the justice department was studying the possibility of relaxing the anti-trust laws so as not to impede war industries.

Some Gains in Stocks Wednesday

News Wednesday, coming before the opening of the Stock Exchange, that the French had recaptured Arras in a counter-attack (it later was denied by the Germans) and that the Germans had been "chased out" of Abbeville brought a calmer tone to the market and some respite from the liquidation that has sent prices tumbling during the past few days.

In volume of 2,132,630 shares, approaching half that of Tuesday's disastrous market, individual stocks made gains of from one to four points in some cases and all classes in the Dow-Jones averages managed to show gains for the day. The industrials closed at 114.75, at the best level of the day and a net gain of 62 point, the first gain since May 16. Rails were ahead 0.7, to 22.21 and utilities advanced 1.7, to 18.51.

Six of the 15 most active stocks showed some gain for the day. Two of these were aviation issues—Lockheed Aircraft and No. American Aviation—the others being Loft, Int. Paper, Anaconda and Socony Vacuum. Curtiss-Wright maintained first place as most active stock, closing unchanged. N. Y. Central and United Corp. also were on the active list and unchanged at the close.

The commodity markets also showed a better tone as distress selling eased and the Dow-Jones index advanced .16 point, to 51.73. Wheat closed up ½ to 2½ cents a bushel at Chicago as trading became more normal. There was better demand for cotton and futures at one time were up $1.35 a bale, the close showing advances of 11 to 16 points. Sugar, wool tops and rubber futures continued to show losses.

In the London market both industrial and rail averages showed losses, the former making new lows for the year. Reports of the recapture of Arras brought a rally from the lower prices of the day. Paris Bourse was calm, with domestic stock lower and foreign issues irregular, with gains predominating. The Toronto and Montreal Stock Exchanges have prohibited short sales until further notice.

Gold stocks in the United States have now passed the nineteen billion dollar mark, approximately 70 per cent of all the monetary gold in the world. Treasury reports that on May 20 its gold holdings totaled $19,048,473,148, compared with $15,906,260,707 a year ago. Most of all this gold is unavailable for spending.

Celanese Corp. has a long range plan to spend some $30,000,000 on plant expansion during the next few years. "Iron Age" yesterday warned that the U. S. could be faced with a steel shortage in mid-year if the war continues, with allied and neutral purchases increasing and prompt action on the national defense program.

Pennsylvania R. R. declared a dividend of 50 cents a share. American Power & Light made payments on two classes of preferred, leaving accumulations of $20,32½ and $16,93¾ a share respectively on the two issues. N. Y. Cent-Pond ordered dividend of 75 cents against 50 cents previously paid.

War Bulletins

London, May 23 (AP)—Police descended today on the headquarters of the British Union, the organization of Fascist Leader Sir Oswald Mosley, and posted a guard outside.

Vatican City, May 23 (AP)—Pope Pius received Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal envoy to the Vatican, today.

Ottawa, May 23 (AP)—Heavy industry, shipbuilding and aircraft firms have been requested by the government to speed up war-time production by working day and night shifts and on holidays and Sundays, it was reported today.

London, May 23 (AP)—A strike of some workers for higher wages at three collieries in Lancashire kept 4,000 miners idle today.

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Bombers from American aircraft factories are winging across the North Atlantic to reinforce allied squadrons in the battle zone. Arthur B. Purvis, British head of the allied purchasing mission, said that some of the long-range planes purchased here already had flown the ocean and others would follow as rapidly as they were delivered.

London, May 23 (AP)—Lord Caldecott, dominions secretary, sent a message to Britain's dominions today declaring that "one airplane immediately is worth 10 in six months."

Rome, May 23 (AP)—Premier Mussolini was reported by a usually reliable source to have summoned a meeting of his supreme defense council today while his official news agency, Stefani, reported from French North Africa that "the situation is tense." Italians accused French authorities in Morocco of "renewing hateful persecutions against Italians living in the protectorate."

Berlin, May 23 (AP)—Authorized German sources, although declining to affirm or deny reports that the German armies have taken Boulogne, French seaport on the English Channel, added: "It is quite probable."

Stockholm, May 23 (AP)—German warplanes swarmed over the Norwegian Arctic sector of Narvik again today, seeking both allied troops and shipping in the continued struggle in the far north.

Dispatches from the Narvik area indicated the Germans were operating from newly-established flying bases in central Norway to get at Polish units which reportedly landed recently to aid French "Blue Devils" and Norwegian troops.

speedboats were eager for the fight and the Nazi infantry impatiently was awaiting the signal from Chancellor Hitler to send them off on the long-threatened invasion of Britain.

Adolf Hitler appeared to be following to the letter his own 20th century version of the age-old military tactics of "divide and destroy" in blazing a pathway across northern France for an attempted knock-out blow against Great Britain.

Although his power thrusts aimed at Paris and the English Channel are held temporarily at least—in the mud of northern France, here is the task the fuhrer has cut out for himself, as outlined by his field officers. Demolish allied naval and air ground organization, then their airplanes, warships and transports, and finally—the supreme bid for a decisive blow with his gray-green land forces.

The allies announced officially yesterday the recapture of Arras and Abbeville, 12 miles from the channel, the western-most point reached by the Germans. There were rumors in Paris—not immediately confirmed—that Amiens, southwest of Arras, and Sedan, center of the hotly-contested Meuse battle area, had been retaken.

Announcing that a new 200-mile allied line along the Somme and Aisne rivers had halted the Germans, a French war ministry spokesman said: "Our troops are holding the Germans at all points. xxx Even the rumors are better today."

In Western Zone Here's how the situation appeared to shape up in the western theatre of war:

From a line west of Antwerp south to a point north of Valenciennes, in northwestern France, the Germans threw their might in their effort to corner the vast allied force of Britain, French and Belgians against the English channel. A decisive battle may develop on the World War battlefield of Ypres, some military authorities believe.

westward to Maubeuge, there was a smaller pocket in which a clear picture could not be obtained, although it was evident that the Germans were trying to close the "bag" and the allies were fighting stubbornly to break up a thin motorized German line which extended from the lower side up a thin bag toward the coast through Arras.

On the east, the Germans still threatened Paris from Laon and Reims, 70 and 100 miles from the French capital, in the direction of Soissons. The British press joined unanimously in applauding the government's swift enactment of a law conscripting labor and property in a move which made Prime Minister Winston Churchill virtually dictator. Drastic decrees were being prepared to implement the law.

Britain, in the first of its new emergency measures, placed all its arms factories on a seven-day week. The scope of the battle on the western front was reflected in Switzerland, where observers reported both French and Germans had withdrawn divisions previously stationed along the Swiss frontier and poured them into the conflict.

Baby Whistles Long Beach, Calif., May 23 (AP)—Mrs. Helen Beaudette says her year-old daughter, Suzanne, started whistling four months ago and now keeps so happily at the pastime she rarely cries. Of course Suzanne "doesn't exactly carry a tune—just sort of improvises as she goes along, like a canary bird."

France also suffered naval losses. The admiralty announced the loss of a submarine, torpedo boat and supply ship in operations off the Dutch and Belgian coasts.

Louis P. Lochner, chief of the Associated Press Berlin bureau now with the German armies on the western front, reported reaching the channel (apparently some where on the Belgian coast). He said crews of Nazi U-boats and

Hughes Seeks Aid To Return to City

Frederick S. Hughes, who recently was sentenced to 180 days in jail with the serving of the sentence suspended provided he got out of Kingston and stayed out, is anxious to return early in June, according to a letter Probation Officer John Melville has received from the Legal Aid Society of New York city.

Hughes is now residing at 229 West 40th street in New York, and is expecting notification of a hearing on the matter of his application for citizenship early in June. The society wanted to know if Hughes returned to Kingston for the hearing whether the serving of the sentence would be imposed.

Hughes had been a resident of this city for nearly 10 years. At the time he was arrested and sentence imposed by Judge Cahill in police court the wife and children had informed the court they wanted nothing to do with the husband and father.

Unless the court changes its ruling the chances are that if Hughes does return in June he will be forced to serve the jail sentence.

Proclamation Supports St. Mark's Church Tag Day

Mayor C. J. Heiselman today issued a proclamation designating Saturday, May 25, as Tag Day for St. Mark's A. M. E. Church. The proclamation follows:

A Proclamation

As mayor of the city of Kingston, I take great pleasure once again in proclaiming Saturday, May 25, Tag Day for the St. Mark's A. M. E. Church on Foxhall avenue of this city.

The citizens of Kingston by their generous response to this appeal by the members of St. Mark's Church will thus permit that church of God to continue to carry on its work of administering to the spiritual needs of our community.

CONRAD J. HEISELMAN, Mayor.

Dated May 23, 1940.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, May 23—Farmers are being held back with corn and potato plantings because of the recent rains.

Mrs. Frances Whipple and son, Ronald Stark, are home from the Benedictine Hospital.

Sunday school and church services held Sunday afternoon were quite well attended. Thursday morning the pastor, the Rev. Frank Bailey, conducted devotional services over Kingston radio station WKNY.

Victor Shultis and Lewis Reynolds, Bearsburg truckmen, have delivered quotas of Rosendale soil conservation lime to West Shokan Heights farmers Morton Roe and E. C. Lewis. James Haverson is awaiting his allotment.

Warren Hyde, of Kingston attended Sunday school classes here Sunday afternoon.

Edward Every of Kingston visited his mother, Mrs. Marlin Every on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Karitke and daughter Ellen of Watson Hollow called on West Shokan Heights friends, Tuesday evening.

Edward Avery of Maple Dell Farm attended the grand opening of former world's champion Mickey Walker's Kingston cafe Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Longyear, Jr., and sister, Mrs. Jean Surpless, of Flatbush, Brooklyn, returned home Monday morning after a week-end visit with Mrs. Longyear's parents and grandmother at West Shokan Heights. Bob Bishop also was a member of the visiting party. Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Longyear, Sr. came up from Brooklyn and had dinner with the family group, returning Sunday evening.

Donald Bishop is recovering from a severe cold. Mrs. Viola Bell of Shokan is again visiting West side friends. The genial trio of Olive assessors, Chairman Homer Markle, Sr., John B. Davis and Francis Every called on West Shokan Heights property owners Saturday.

Gus Karitke has completed an artistic metal weather vane for installing atop the flag pole at Maple Dell Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hyde and son, Warren, of Kingston, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John North, of Malby Hollow road, Sunday.

Mrs. Lester S. Davis escorted Mrs. Addie Tucker on a trip to Kingston, Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer S. Bedell, of Shokan paid a Sunday call on his sister, Mrs. Martin J. Every. Mr. and Mrs. Worth P. Jones of Lion returned home Saturday after spending several days with his father, William Jones, of Main street.

Charles Duloff and Edward Every, of Boiceville, delivered a truck load of custom sawed lumber to Morton Roe one day recently. They are rushed with work and turning out lumber at a great rate.

Mrs. Fanny Boice of Main street entertained a family group of 12 on Sunday, including Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Boice, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Boice and family, of Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Donahue and children, Joan and Bruce, of Grahamsville.

Edmund C. Burgher was a recent caller in Woodstock and Kingston. The Dick Larges and members of the Duella family were among week-end visitors.

Wednesday's weekly Ladies' Aid Church quilting and luncheon was fairly well attended. Among those present were Mrs. Addie Van Demark, president; Mrs. Belle Burgher, Mrs. Anna Avery, Mrs. Alice Bell, Mrs. Ray Wean, Mrs. Kathryn Terwilliger, Mrs. Fanny Boice, Mrs. Minnie Every, Mrs. Mattie Davis, the Rev. Frank Bailey and several other visitors.

Contractor Harold Constable is making repairs at Head Acres.

Contractor Albert North is doing some artistic outdoor mason work at the Dolan estate.

It is expected that a detail representing Phoenicia Post American Legion, will in accordance with their annual proceeding for the past decade, place memorial flags on the graves of the hallowed soldier dead reposing in the various town of Olive cemeteries.

Hiram Barton of Olive Bridge resident, who was buried last week was a son of one of Olive's well known early supervisors bearing the same name. He died in Kingston at the home of a daughter, Mrs. William Van Steenburgh.

Town machinery was at work Wednesday on the Watson Hollow Inn cross road.

Mrs. Fanny Boice spent Monday and Tuesday visiting with her son, Dorville, and family, in Olive Bridge.

The Bushkill cemetery has been burned over as part of the spring clean-up program.

Mr. and Mrs. Deyo Van Wagon of Blue Gables Farm, were recent Kingston callers.

Francis Whipple ploughed and harrowed his garden Saturday in readiness for planting.

James Harrison is awaiting delivery of lime for seeding down a field with oats and alfalfa.

Miss Ollie Burgher recently entertained an evening social call by Orvil Lyons and mother, of Broadhead Heights.

Judge Lester Davis made a Kingston trip one day this week. The mid-week church prayer meeting held Wednesday evening conducted by pastor, Frank Bailey.

Mrs. Ruth West and the children of the West Shokan school plan to make a New York World's Fair trip by bus about June 15. The round trip tickets are being sold. A similar trip was made last spring.

West Shokan Heights farmers Morton Roe, Julian Eckert and Elwyn Davis are sowing lime on meadow fields.

Trustees Martin Eckert has hired a teacher for the Bushkill school for next term.

Luke Bell, Bushkill farmer is making ready to plant field corn of the early flint variety.

Mrs. Louis Van Kleeck of Broadhead was a recent Kingston shopper.

Netherlands Now Scarred by Ruins

man positions were centered, and the Nazi forces used the Statendam as an effective barricade.

By no means all of the casualties were Dutch, however. German troop transport planes, seeking to land at an airport a few miles outside the city in the direction of the Hague, found fighting already in progress there. The planes, trying emergency landings on a road near-by, were caught by cross-currents of wind, and 15 of them crashed up.

In a clearing on top of the fortified hill north of here I saw some of the graves marked by 450 wooden crosses, with trench helmets hung on them. They were about evenly divided between Dutch helmets and German.

There were barbed wire pits and shell holes on all sides. The litter of the equipment of the fallen lay on the ground around the clearing.

A German officer stood at one end of the line of crosses and told a handful of correspondents: "The Dutch army fought bravely and the German soldiers would be the last to reflect on the honor of a soldier who fought in such a manner."

The Grebbe fortifications extended from this hill north to Amersfoort and on to the IJssel Meer (Zuider Zee). To the north of the hill the Dutch had many more fortifications, as well as one of the areas where they expected flooding the land to hold up the German advance.

There, too, the Germans broke through on their great surge to the west.

"We knew all about the plan to flood the land and our technical men knew it would not stop us," the German officer said.

The Dutch, meanwhile, seem to be taking the occupation philosophically. A few are bitter over the lack of British help—the Germans say only 700 British troops landed in Holland—but otherwise they are seeking to return to normal after an invasion that left them stunned by its speed.

Nor has the occupation appeared to have had much effect on the life of former Kaiser Wilhelm.

The 81-year-old woodchopper still is at nearby Doorn. German authorities say he declined a British government invitation to remove him and his family "in protection" to England, his enemy of 1914-18.

serve its usual last meeting night of the month supper Saturday evening following the regular lodge meeting. A large turn out is being planned for. The serving committee will include noble grand, Edward Van Kleeck, vice-grand, Frank Booth, Edward Avery, Harlowe McLean and William Feldman.

Boy Scout News

The final session of the Training Course for Scout leaders of the Ulster Green Council was held last evening May 22 at the city court room in Kingston at 7:30 p. m. The program was an opening ceremony in response to scout questions led by Executive Burns.

The first discussion period on the subject of "Civic Service and Good Turns" was led by Dr. H. W. Keator, who emphasized the importance of good turns in developing the habit in scouts of thinking of the other fellow. The patrol projects were on judging of distance, height and weight. The patrols measured the room and guessed the height and weight of the different members. Following this several observation games were played.

The second discussion period on the subject of scout advancement and going on in scouting was led by Executive Burns. He explained this council's advancement policy and following this discussion questions as to how improvements could be made were suggested by the men. Dr. H. W. Keator closed the session by expressing the appreciation of the council officers to the scout leaders for their interest and cooperation in coming to the eight session of the course.

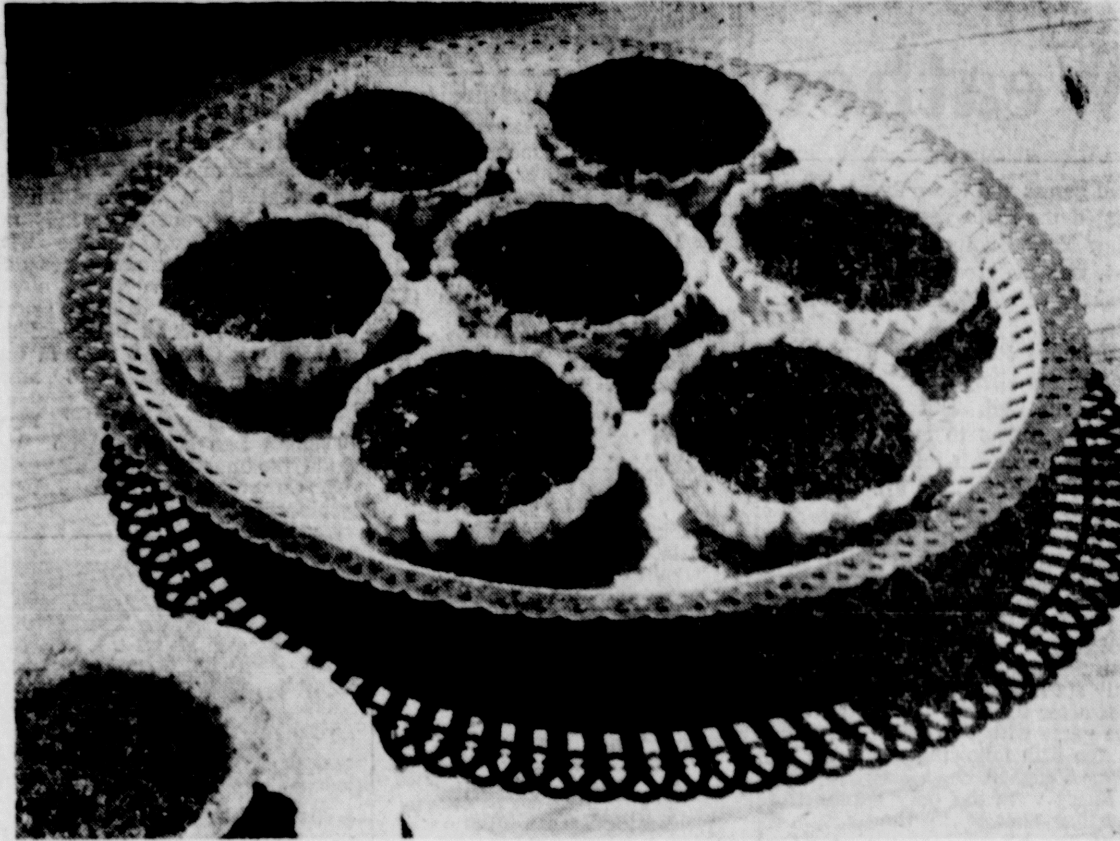

Announcement was made that other courses would be held in the fall. The following men will receive certificates for completing the required work for this course: Sherwood Lasher, Preston Ferguson, Clifford VanValkenburgh, Leander Hannibal, James Doyle, John MacConnell, L. B. Herrington, George Otis, Robert Short, Elmore Carson, Clifford Donohue, Harry Rigby, H. W. Keator, Robert Jones, Jack Kearns, Harry Bushgeton, George B. Matthews, Selwyn Tucker, Ora Blanchard, Edgar Freese, L. R. Spencer, F. L. Spencer, Robert Cooke, John Mack of Kingston; Frank Mason, Francis Schmitt, T. P. Wayne, David Cunningham of Saugerties; Clyde Adams, Donovan Brockett, of Windham; H. I. Todd, Ludwig Baumgarten, of Woodstock; Harold Ferguson, Arthur Hilliard, of Ellenville; Nelson Keables, Leslie Gosier, of Catskill; John Dorman, of Greenville; Ray Stoddard, William Oakley, of Nanoch; Merrill Dolbeck, Wallkill; Jack Spinneweber, Port Ewen, and Robert Clark, Port Ewen.

There are additional men who need to make up only one or two meetings to be eligible also for certificates in the course.

The Ulster-Greene Council will be visited today by Mr. James Killough, deputy regional executive for the region No. 2 office in New York. Mr. Killough is working with the officers of the council in setting up plans for the annual fall campaign, which will be held in October.

The scoutmasters of the Rondout Valley District are meeting this evening at the home of the district commissioner, Harold Ferguson, in Ellenville. Plans for Memorial Day parade and council camporee will be made at this time.

Everyone Wins This Game of Tarts

Any game is well worth the playing if fine taste is the prize and that's where all-bran "Chess Tarts" are winners:

False moves are out in this new game—all the rules you need are in the recipe on this same page.

Chess Tarts

2 eggs
1 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon melted butter
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 cup chopped walnut meats
1 cup currants
1 recipe all-bran pastry

Beat eggs well; add sugar and butter; mix thoroughly. Add remaining ingredients and fill all-bran pastry lined tart pans. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 45 minutes.

Yield: Eight 3-inch tarts.

All-Bran Pastry

1/4 cup all-bran
1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
4 tablespoons cold water (more or less)

Roll all-bran until fine; combine with flour and salt. Cut in shortening. Add water, a little at a time, until the dough is moist enough to hold together. Roll out on lightly floured board to about one-eighth inch in thickness.

Return With Cup

Wednesday evening the members of the Pioneer Roller Club of Kingston motored to the Roller-drome in Middletown to attend the first skate queen festival there. The local club returned with a loving cup presented them for having the largest number of its members present.

Baseball Situation Still as Uncertain as the Weather

(By The Associated Press)

There was a time that the National League pennant chase looked like it might be a runaway. First the Brooklyn Dodgers won nine straight and looked hotter than a four-alarm fire. Then the Cincinnati Reds gave the appearance of gunning for a ten-game lead by July 4.

The result was inevitable, of course. The senior circuit is having its customary brawl for the lead and today the Dodgers and Reds are tied with 18 games won and eight lost. The American League is having nearly as desperate a dispute for first place between the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians. The New York Yankees have assumed winning ways and finally have escaped the cellar.

The baseball situation, in short, still is as uncertain as the weather. Cincinnati's chances depend considerably on big Paul Derringer, who suddenly has changed from an exclamation point to a question mark. He has been knocked out of the box three times in his last five games and the only reason he lasted the route yesterday, as the New York Giants beat Cincinnati 6-4, was the great faith, hope and charity of Manager Bill McKee.

Johnny Rizzo hit a two-run homer to help give Derringer a three-run lead. But Paul permitted the Giants to rally for three runs in the sixth and three more in the eighth. This dropped him to four defeats and three victories for the spring. Carl Hubbell went his unceremonious way with his third victory for the Giants.

Fat Freddy Fitzsimmons led the Dodgers to a 3-1 decision over the pitiful Pittsburgh Pirates, giving only six hits and pitching shut-out ball after the first. Brooklyn won the game with two unearned runs in the fifth following a fumble by Arky Vaughan.

These were the only games the weather allowed in the National League. A scheduled night game between the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia was reset for tonight. Cleveland took first blood in its series with the Red Sox, winning 9-6 on home runs by Hal Trosky, Roy Weatherly and Ken Keltner. Three pitchers were used by each team and gave up a total of 31 hits. The triumph raised the Indians again within a game and a half of the Sox.

The Yankees continued their assault of all kinds of pitching (except good) with a 16-hit bombardment that wrecked the Detroit Tigers 8-2. Babe Dahlgren had a home run and four singles. Rookie Marvin Brewer held the Tigers to six hits. He might have had a shut-out except Frank Crosetti let grounders go through his legs with the bases loaded.

This was the fifth victory in the last seven games for the world champions, and only a sudden winning streak by the Chicago White Sox kept them from jumping right up into sixth place.

The White Sox, who hadn't won a game in their own park until Monday, now have three straight, including a 10-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday. Chicago piled up 18 hits while lefty Ed Smith held his ex-mates to seven.

Another seven hit pitching performance, this one by Southpaw Ken Chase, brought the Washington Senators a 9-2 victory over the St. Louis Browns. Chase was supported by a 13-hit offensive, all of which added up to send the Browns into the cellar.

General Electric Has Strongest Team in Years

The General Electric team which will oppose the Kingston Recreation Sunday at the Municipal Stadium is regarded as the strongest G. E. aggregation in years. The team now leads the New York State League with three straight wins and a season's record of 9 and 1.

Emil Battalino, tricky southpaw, a big favorite here, defeated Mohawk Giants, 5 to 4, in last start. He is slated to start against the Recs.

The club is managed by First Baseman Len Hurley, who was rated the most valuable player in the Canadian-American League last season.

Manager Ed Weiss has practically cleaned house and the following lineup remains:
Pitchers—Emil Battalino, Charlie Zagata and Bill Trondsen. All three are experienced hurlers.

Catcher—Jackie LeMay, who is 19 years old, is touted as great prospect and could have caught for Williamston in North Carolina State League this season.

First baseman—Len Hurley, formerly with Ottawa in Canadian-American circuit, a great hitter who dropped out of organized baseball to manage the G. E.'s at fat salary.

Second baseman—Eddie Harrison, a holdover from last season, only member of the club who hasn't been in Canadian-American circuit.

Third baseman—Luczynski, formerly of Utica Braves in Canadian-American League.

Shortstop—Paul Briscoe, flashy fielder and one of the leading batsmen of the New York State League.

Outfielders—Veteran Ted Karis, former Kingston Colonial player and one of the great ball players of upper New York state.

Steve Kuk, former Colgate University athletic star. Once property of New York Giants. Played with Durham in Piedmont League in 1939, in Southern Association with Nashville, Meridian in South-eastern League. Once highly regarded by Bill Terry but failed to make big league grade.

Mickey Maletta, well known all-around Schenectady athlete. Veteran of State League and also with Brockport in Canadian-American circuit. Well known as professional basketball player. Earl Miller, slugging left fielder, one of the few holdovers. Batted in the cleanup spot in 1939 State League.

To meet this outfit the locals will depend on the men who defeated the Morristown team in the opening game here last Sunday. Kingston can call upon Charlie Neff or Schoolboy Bush to do the pitching and either should give the upstate team plenty of trouble.

A large attendance is expected to turn out for this game, which is expected to furnish plenty of action.

Track Committee Meeting

On Monday evening, May 27, at 7:30 o'clock in the City Hall, there will be a very important meeting of the entire committee for the second annual Kingston Track and Field Championships, which will be held this year on July 21.

My husband's a good judge of beer

He says Trommer's is extra refreshing!

That's because of the way Trommer's brews it

Trommer's is so very refreshing because it's brewed solely of malt and hops. A No. 1 barley-malt is the only grain used in our Old-World brewing formula. For real "thirst aid" try Trommer's. Just taste and compare.

Light Tonight For Middle Title

New York, May 23 (AP)—Ken Overlin and Ceferino Garcia, of the world middleweight championship, are having a little together in Madison Square Garden at 9 (E. S. T.) tonight. Some plain and fancy fistfighting with a geography lesson on each other for 15 rounds or less.

Just to make the geography lesson complete, the championship itself is no stationary target. There was a time when you could point a finger at one better and say "he's it." But now the title is sliced up like a barbecued pig. Garcia owns that part of it recognized in New York, California and a few way stations. The National Boxing Association, functioning in some other parts of the country, bestows its blessings on Al Hostak of Seattle, who has defended his title claim outside his own "back yard" only once.

Garcia and his right hand bolo punch go into action as 1 to 2 favorites.

Women and children refugees are being crushed by modern war machines. Help them through your contribution to the Red Cross War Relief Fund.

City Softball Games Tonight

Games scheduled tonight in the City Softball League are as follows:
J. Y. A. vs. Peter Schuyler, Loughran.
Country Club vs. Independents, Barmann.
Eichler vs. Jones Dairy, Armory No. 2.

Today's Laff
The wrestling Equity Association announces it has called strikes against and will picket clubs operated by Jack Pfeiffer and Rudy Dusek, because they have refused to cooperate in "cleaning up the game."

Big Chance For Ken

After boxing professionally for several years, Ken Overlin gets his big chance May 24 when he tackles Ceferino Garcia (right) for the world middleweight championship. Garcia, who won the crown last year from Fred Apostoli, rules a favorite in the Madison Square Garden bout.

Sports Roundup

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, May 23 (AP)—The educated Professor Moe Berg of the Red Sox follows the international situation closely. So when the Sox had an off day in Detroit, he hopped over to Canada to give conditions a quick once over. . . . Ken Overlin has bet $400 of his own dough against $1,000 he beats Ceferino Garcia in the Garden tonight. . . . Since Henry Armstrong has been coaching Overlin, Garcia has asked the boxing commission to warn Ken against thumping and butting. . . . When the Cubs tried to get Eddie Miller, the Bees told 'em the price was 100,000 smackers and they could take it or leave it.

Today's Guest Star
Francis E. Stan, Washington Evening Star: "It didn't prove anything except that as a fighter Joey Archibald is even a little more inept than was first suspected, but the second Jeffra-Archibald act suggested that Onkel Heinie Miller and his practically National Boxing Association has the best featherweight champion of them all in Petey Scalzo."

Add a leg injury to Bill Dickey's long list of woes. . . . A swanky Maryland club is playing polo for two-bits admission. It must be the war. . . . As the Yanks were riding from Cleveland to Detroit Tuesday night, some lug hurled a rock through the train window, spraying Babe Dahlgren with splinters. . . . John Drebing, Jr., Penn's ace miler, is on the sidelines with a bad throat and is out for the balance of the season. . . . Frank Haggerty, shortstop, and Sal Ferrara, catcher, of St. John's (Brooklyn), two of the best prospects in the metropolitan area, are reporting to Atlanta June 2. . . . Wolves, rare animals in Comiskey Park, are howling at the White Sox.

Papers here say the Brooks have a deal cooking. . . . Lee Savold goes to the post against Ed Tipperary at Kansas City June 4 for his first go since he broke his hand. . . . Bruce Smith's fire in spring drills is keeping football a more popular sports subject out in Minnesota than it should be this time of year. . . . Larry Gutsch, a Salina (Kans.) bowler, threw 19 successive strikes the other night. . . . Monte Barnard, Rensselaer (N. Y.) high school hurler, warmed up with three consecutive shut-outs, then came through with a no-hit, no-runner. . . . All reports say Tom Lieb, the new coach, is making a big hit down at Florida U.

Grand Slam
In the year just completed, East Denver High School teams were champs in football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, golf and swimming. . . . P. S.—They finished second in wrestling.

Cheer Up
We should worry and we should fret. Those Yankees will get going yet.

Middletown to Battle Kingston Here Friday

Kingston High School's march to the 1940 DUSO League Championship will receive its biggest test Friday afternoon at Municipal Stadium when Middletown will be in town. Game time is 4:15 o'clock.

Despite a loss to Port Jervis last week, 10 to 5, the Middletown High School nine is anxiously awaiting this coming clash with the undefeated Millermen who are now in first place tied by Newburgh Free Academy.

While Kingston and Middletown are battling it out at the stadium Friday afternoon another important league affair will come off in Saugerties where the Newburgh machine will be facing Larry Cahill's club. Newburgh has won its last seven games and are out to make it eight in a row and also at a loss for control. He strengthened its hold on first place.

At the present writing it looks as though both Kingston and Newburgh will be on the downstretch together following the games this week. Kingston has trimmed Ellenville and Saugerties in rather easy style but as yet haven't displayed much hitting strength. Newburgh, after two wins, has shown a little more power at the plate and a steadier defense which might turn out to be the deciding factor in the long run.

Despite Hank Tiano's good showing last week against the Cahillmen, Coach Cliff Miller is sending Will Windburn to the mound in the Middletown battle Friday afternoon. Windburn has already been in one game but failed to last when he was knocked from the box by Ellenville. In that game Windburn, classed as a No. 2 hurler for the Maroon and White squad, was at a loss for anything less than a "nothing ball" and also at a loss for control. He walked eight men in his brief stay on the hill.

In using Windburn against a fairly powerful Middletown team,

Miller may be forced to call upon Tiano before the game is completed. But Windburn is due for a creditable showing and this may be his day. Ed Allen and "Lefty" Albright will also be ready for bullpen duty.

According to the latest averages Don Ransom and Joe Watzka are the top hitters for the Millermen to date. Both Ransom and Watzka have been showing up well so far and are expected to use some of their base knocks to advantage tomorrow afternoon.

Following is Kingston's tentative lineup: 1b, Watzka; 2b, Joe Benjamin; 3b, VanBuren; ss, Ransom; lf, Stoll; cf, Mickle; rf, Hopper; c, Shader and p, Windburn. Middletown's lineup hasn't been announced.

Byrnes Says Lindbergh Offers Ostrich-Like Pose for Nation

of his hysterical protest against the people becoming hysterical about our national defense program, admitted that "we need a greater air force, a greater army and a greater navy, and nowhere indicated in what respect the president's program is defective." President Roosevelt, he continued, not only had a "definite policy of defense already formulated" but had stated it "time and again."

"Why then does Mr. Lindbergh try to create the impression that the American people are being rushed hastily and impulsively into a national defense program?" Byrnes asked.

He declared that England and France had been lulled into a false sense of security by men expressing the same international philosophy which Lindbergh voiced in his radio speech Sunday night. "Fifth columns are already active in America," Byrnes continued. "And those who consciously or unconsciously retard the efforts of this government to provide for the defense of the American people are the fifth column's most effective fellow travelers."

Arrest of Ramsay Reported Today

London, May 23 (AP)—The arrest of Captain Archibald H. M. Ramsay, conservative member of parliament, by direction of the home secretary was announced today by the speaker of the house of commons.

Ramsay, a veteran of the World War, was detained in Brixton prison as the government carried out a round up of persons suspected as "Fifth Columnists."

At the same time a police guard was clamped on headquarters of the British Union, the British Fascist organization headed by Sir Oswald Mosley.

When a member of the house asked whether the home secretary would give the reason for Ramsay's arrest the speaker replied, "not at this stage."

Call "Cortlandt"

"Cortlandt" is one of the oldest telephone designations in use today in New York city, rounding out 50 years of service on June 1, 1890. First included in the telephone directory of June 1, 1890, some 3,980 listings carried the new designation, listings of customers formerly served by the Nassau, John, New Pearl and Murray central offices which were absorbed with the opening of the new office.

HIGHLAND

Highland, May 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Seaman returned Wednesday after spending the winter months in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Attending the meeting of Eastern Star in Catskill Tuesday evening were Mrs. Mabel Yeager, W. Herman Jordan, Mrs. Carrie Jordan, Mrs. Harry B. Cotant, Mrs. Bertram Cottine, Mrs. C. W. Rathgeb, Mrs. Lillian Sheeley, Mrs. Gertrude Coulter.

Miss Helen Sykes will spend this week-end at her home in West Warwick, R. I.

Mrs. Julius W. Blakely is attending the sessions of the Rebebek Assembly held in Syracuse this week. Her place on the Highland Post is taken by Mrs. Elmer Randall.

The Music Study Club meets Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Blakely, who with Mrs. Helen D. Brown are hostesses. The entire Beethoven program is to be presented by Mrs. W. Herman Jordan.

Mrs. Harry Thompson is a patient in the hospital at Cornwall.

Mrs. Franklin Welker went to New York Monday to remain until Friday.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Coons were entertained by them at their home in Kingston Friday evening and were: Mrs. Lester Simpson, Mrs. Lloyd Plass, Mrs. Sarah Goerth, Mrs. Jacob Schulte, Mrs. George Erichsen, Mrs. William Dodge, Mrs. Rosamond Lanckau, Mrs. J. W. Blakely, Mrs. Max Gruner, Mrs. Rachel Rowley, Mr. and Mrs. David Faulkner, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Tompkins, Mrs. Richard Petersen, Mrs. Walter McNutt.

John G. Lucas, Jr., and Alfred Hopper accompanied David Corwin on his trip to Salisbury, N. C., Thursday. The men return next week with Richard Corwin, who has completed his freshman year at Catawba College.

The June meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society will be covered dish luncheon June 5 on the lawn of Mrs. Franklin Welker. The committee for the month will provide the dessert and coffee. Mrs. Charles Farnham, Mrs. Welker, Mrs. William Waterbury, Miss Maggie Palmatrix, Miss Edna Curry, Mrs. Jennie Hasbrouck, Mrs. Abram Rhodes and Mrs. Joseph Freeston constitute the committee. Charles, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. William Denby, and a student at the Poughkeepsie Day Nursery, entertained a group of classmates Friday afternoon with a hayride and supper party. Supper was served at his home on the Milton road.

Miss Grace Smith is local chairman for the Red Cross drive for the town of Lloyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Elting were called from their camp at Claryville on Tuesday by the death of Mrs. Elting's mother, Mrs. Charles Richard at her home in Woodhaven, L. I. Mr. and Mrs. Richard last year celebrated their more than 60 years of marriage.

Mrs. Ethel Graham spent Wednesday the guest of Mrs. Roscoe Wood.

Mrs. Ella Burchill arrived home Monday after spending the winter in Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. Fred Lewis Vail left Thursday for New York where she joins Miss Marriet Traver of Hudson for a few days in the city.

The property of the late Fritz Gellrich on the New Paltz road has been purchased by Christian Erichsen of Poughkeepsie, a brother of Henry Erichsen of Highland. The price is said to be $8,000. The house was built by the late Dr. Willard Ide Pierce more than 25 years ago.

The annual memorial ritual for deceased members of the Grange was conducted by Highland Grange at their meeting Tuesday evening.

This followed the opening hymn, "The Old Rugged Cross." The members who were thus remembered were D. H. Starr, Mrs. Gladys Sutton, Abram W. Deyo and State Officer Lowell. An exchange of bulbs was made among the members, this too, is an annual event of a spring meeting.

There were 28 members and one visitor from Clintondale present. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Verna Thorn, Mrs. Hattie Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schmidt, Mrs. Claud Roosa, Mrs. Fred Schmidt, Sr.

A hobby meeting is scheduled for the next meeting which is in charge of Mel. Puleo and Mrs. Philip Bravata. The program is to be planned by the service and hospitality committee.

The completing of the book, "Homeland Harvest," by the reader, Mrs. A. W. Lent, came Monday evening at the meeting of the Evening Reading Circle at the home of Mrs. Lent although the hostesses were Mrs. Oliver J. Tillson and Mrs. Livingston Rhodes. Mrs. Lent also led the devotions using as her theme a united front and an orderly mind. The summer committee who will look after collections for the rummage sale on October 26, are Mrs. W. D. Corwin, Mrs. C. W. Rathgeb, Mrs. Lent and Mrs. Edgar Boyce. The Circle will not meet again until October 7 unless called on special business.

While gathered around the table for refreshments Miss Louise Taylor was presented with a glass cake plate as a gift from the Circle members. The engagement of Miss Taylor to Donald Bowman of Albany has been announced. Attending the meeting were: Mrs. Edgar Boyce, Mrs. W. T. Burke and her mother, Mrs. Leatherby, Mrs. Matthew Busch, Mrs. W. D. Corwin, Mrs. Bertram Cottine, Mrs. Bertram Dimsey, Mrs. S. D. Haynes, Mrs. Elmer Randall, Mrs. C. W. Rathgeb, Mrs. Victor Salvatore, Miss Taylor, Miss Marie Van Wormer, Mrs. Charles Whittaker, Mrs. Tillson and Mrs. Lent. The gentlemen joining the ladies for refreshments were Mr. Haynes, C. C. Whittaker, Dr. Salvatore, Mr. Tillson, E. D. Randall and Mr. Lent.

Dickstein Says Two Bund Camps Intense With Activity

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Two Bund Posts of Storm Troops are located at Newfoundland, N. J., and Glendale, L. I., Representative Dickstein (D-N. Y.) told the house, and they "are known to be drilling with rifles more intensely than before."

"It is also a very serious situation and a threat to our neutrality," he said in a floor speech, "if we continue to tolerate demonstrations like the one at North Bergen, N. J., where more than 10,000 German-Americans gathered to celebrate the Nazi Army's exploits in France and Belgium."

After witnessing the methods employed by Hitler agents in other so-called neutral countries, it is surprising that we still permit them to march around in their foreign uniforms trying to spread their vicious doctrines of race hatred and intolerance in this country.

"In times like these I think we ought to be more alert in protecting our country and our institutions against the onslaught of the 'fifth column' which has been responsible for the downfall of a number of unsuspecting victims in Europe."

Dickstein, who is chairman of the immigration and naturalization committee, said the National Rifle Association of Washington, D. C., was "being used and abused by the members of the German-American Bund."

"This association, which had at one time sent representatives to the Bund in 1938 to solicit membership, was recently exposed in the press when it was found out that this association had sold rifles to the members of the Christian Front, some of whose members are now on trial."

Dickstein asserted rifles were sold to the Bund Posts at Newfoundland and Glendale by the Association.

At the beginning of 1939, the number of telephones in the world, 41,090,847, were connected to 174,548,000 miles of wire.

'Miracle Army' of France Fights to Reunite Forces

Paris, May 23 (AP)—The French armies, effecting what foreign military experts called a "miracle of reorganization," fought today with new fury to reunite their northern and central armies and chop off the long, sharp spearhead which the Germans have driven through northern France to the sea.

Pocketed with their British and Belgian allies, the central French army, using tanks, planes, motorized units and artillery, engaged the Germans in a bitter see-saw battle between Cambrai and Valenciennes, 25 miles apart.

Here, at the base of their long southern salient which extends northwest to the Abbeville coastal region, the Germans attacked to make tighter and smaller the sack in which they are holding the allied forces of Flanders (estimated by the Germans at between 500,000 and 1,000,000 men).

The battle jockeyed back and forth along the Scheldt river, with temporary advantages for both sides. At one point the French, a military spokesman said, fought their way down to the outskirts of Cambrai, territory from which they had been pushed earlier in the week by Nazi armored columns volleying west.

South of the salient, moving from their stabilized line along the Laon river, other French forces were en route north, fighting their way from the St. Quentin neighborhood toward the Cambrai battlefield.

A halt in withdrawals of the French, British and troops from their lines in Belgium, north and west from this main battleground, was implied in military reports, according to the authoritative newspaper Le Temps.

The extreme left wing of the Allied armies, which swung into Belgium on the day of the German invasion, has taken up positions in the rear of the Scheldt and Scarpe rivers and the troops face south and southeast against the German forces which are swinging on the channel.

The soldiers of France were heartened by their government's determination to cling to Paris.

Serving Five Days

Peter Calhoun, 55, of Highland, arrested Wednesday by Corporal Baker and Trooper Klein on a public intoxication charge, was brought to the county jail to serve five days in default of a fine of $5 imposed by Justice A. B. Merritt.

In Police Court

Vincent Guimmarra, 30, of West New York, the first man to be arrested for speeding in Kingston this year, forfeited $10 cash bail today in police court when he failed to appear to answer to a charge of speeding 56 miles an hour on East Chester street on Sunday. Jacob Lipschutz of this city was fined $5 for not having a certificate of registration for the car he was driving this morning.

Woman Charged With Burglary

Eileen Kerrigan, 24, of Benton's Corners, arrested Wednesday by B. C. I. Investigators Metzger and Baker, waived examination when arraigned before Justice Joseph Deyo on a charge of burglary in the third degree and was brought to the Ulster county jail to await the action of the grand jury.

The arrest followed investigation into the theft of a tin box Monday, from the home of Byron McGrath of Benton's Corners, containing valuables belonging to McGrath's brother, Patrick McGrath. Contents of the box, it was claimed, included about $100 in cash, a watch, rings, bank books and other valuables.

The officers said that all of the missing property except about $15 of the cash had been recovered.
